Jurors' Names Are Drawn For Keaton Murder Trial

A list of prospective jurors for the first degree murder trial of Cleo V. Keaton, scheduled Oct. 25, was drawn today in the Pickaway County Clerk of Courts office.

The special drawing was one in accordance with Ohio law involving a capital offense, according to Judge William Ammer. The names of 75 Pickaway Counties were drawn for the jury which will be seated beginning 9 a. m. on the Monday following Pumpkin Show week. A verdict must come from 12 who are seated.

Keaton, 27, is the accused murder of Maurice Francis of Williamsport. The crime was committed near Williamsport in March and Keaton was indicted by the April term of Grand Jury.

Last week, Keaton was examined by a psychiatrist at the Dayton State Hospital upon the request of Emmanuel Nadlin, defense counsel. The Dayton doctor's report is expected to be released during the course of the trial.

A REPORT submitted by examining psychologists and psychiatrists of Lima State Hospital, following a 30-day commitment by the court, indicated Keaton was "legally sane and able to stand trial."

Jurors selected are to be notified by the sheriff and a return must be filed with the court by Oct. 9. Picked for the list were:

Norman Dean Godden, Route 4; Genevieve Hedges, Tarlton; Barton Thompson, Route 1, Lockbourne; Virginia L. Bixler, Route 2, Ashville; Edwin E. Miss Liberty To See LBJ Sign Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has chosen the Statue of Liberty for signing in law the historic immigration reform bill.

He'll fly to New York Sunday and sign the measure at the base of the statue, a beacon to millions of immigrants who flocked to America's shores.

The President will remain in New York overnight to meet with Pope Paul VI Monday.

The House approved the immigration bill Thursday by a vote of 320 to 69. The Senate then sent it to the President by voice vote.

Sponsors of the measure, which had the strong backing of the President and of his predecessor, John F. Kennedy, say it will increase immigration to the United States to 355,000 a year, about 60,000 more than at present.

The measure will repeal in three years the national-origins formula under which Eastern Hemisphere nations received immigration quotas in proportion to their share of the U.S. population in 1920.

The effect was to encourage immigration from northern Europe and discourage that from southern and eastern Europe. Opponents of the quota system called that formula discriminatory.

3,000 Ohioans Earmarked for Elite Force

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's only Army Reserve division will be disbanded, and a brigade about 3,000 men from its only National Guard division will become part of a high-priority "select force" under the realignment plan of Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

The 7,000 member 83rd Infantry Division, which also has units in West Virginia, would be among the Reserve divisions disbanded under the realignment announced Thursday. The 83rd has been low-priority status the past several years.

The 37th National Guard Division, on the other hand, will lose one of its brigades is to the "select force. . . to be trained to the highest possible state of combat readiness" but would continue in existence as a low-priority division under the plan.

The Pentagon said the select 37th brigade would team with a brigade from Pennsylvania's 28th and Maryland's 29th infantry divisions to make up the high-priority division. The headquarters units would come from Pennsylvania and the division would be based in that state and take the name of the 28th. The Ohio brigade with its increased manpower and equipment strength would continue to train with the 37th until mobilization.

Brig. Gen. Heber L. Minton, assistant Ohio adjutant general, said state officials had not been told yet which of the 37th's three brigades would be named for the select force. The 1st brigade is based in Cleveland, the 2nd in Toledo and the 3rd in Columbus.

The 37th now has about 9,000 members all it is allotted under its current low-priority classification. Full strength (Continued on Page 2)

Klan Probers Reach Deep Into Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — In probing the Ku Klux Klan the House Committee on Un-American Activities has questioned "men who themselves have engaged in bombing and night rides and men who had been in the high councils of the Klan," says the committee's ranking Republican.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio says the closed sessions in preparation for public hearings to start Oct. 20—clearly showed a Klan pattern.

But he urged that the investigation also examine the Invisible Empire's northern branch. Ashbrook said in an interview he has asked the committee to subpoena Flynn Harvey, the Klan's grand dragon in Ohio.

"I don't think the Klan is a whole lot more than a paper organization in my state," said Ashbrook. "But I think we should see how it fits into the scheme of violence. . . It is necessary to learn if the Ohio Klan plans the same kind of terroristic activities."

Ashbrook noted that the hearings will put a bright light on what he called "the very shady world of the Klan," but he emphasized the main purpose is to develop legislation.

U.S. Keeping Watch on Indonesia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of a political upheaval in Indonesia today signal an incipient new crisis in crisis-ridden Southeast Asia.

Apprehensive U.S. officials were watching the situation closely. They studied the Jakarta announcement and official reports from the U.S. Embassy in Jakarta in an effort to determine what effect the upheaval might have on President Sukarno's leadership and on Indonesian political alliances.

For several years the populous island nation has been swinging closer and closer to the Red Chinese orbit, and it appeared that the Communist issue might be a vital element in the present emergency.

Relations between the United States and Indonesia were reduced almost to the vanishing point some time ago.

Increasing tensions between the two countries have been marked by Indonesian seizure of control of various American-owned properties, violent and destructive demonstration against U.S. government offices such as libraries and information centers and sharp policy differences over Indonesia's conflict with British-backed Malaysia.

In spite of the tensions, however, the United States has refrained from breaking relations with the Sukarno government, although the once-heavy economic aid to Indonesia has long since been ended.

U.S. concern over Indonesia's future has two primary bases. The island chain which the republic occupies is one of the richest areas in the world in natural resources, with vast supplies of oil, tin and other minerals.

Also the archipelago holds highly important strategic positions along the air and water route between the Indian and Pacific oceans.

U.S. To Build Huge Airliner 700-Passenger Job Is Given Go-Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has set out to build the world's largest airplane the C5A, capable of carrying up to 700 passengers.

The task of developing and producing airplane bodies wings, tails and other parts larger than ever before flown was assigned Thursday to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s Georgia Division at Marietta, Ga.

The 40,000-pound-thrust jet engines four to a plane will be produced by the General Electric Co. of Cincinnati.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara estimated it will cost about $2 billion to develop the plane, produce the initial Air Force order of 5 and place the transport in operation by 1969.

The air frame project accounts for about $1.5 billion of the cost, the engines about $500 million.

The giant plane will weigh almost 350 tons, twice the gross tonnage of the largest U.S. military cargo plane now in service, the Douglas C133 propjet transport.

McNamara said the C5A will carry three times as much cargo as the Lockheed C141 jet freighter, which he called the most modern and efficient transport in the world today.

At a cruising speed of 500 to 550 miles an hour, the plane would have 30 per cent greater speed than the recently unveiled huge Soviet Ilyushin transport and would have double the payload capacity, he said.

Cincy Jet Plant To Get Big Order
CINCINNATI (AP) — The $2 billion Defense Department contract for the huge C5A jet transport will mean hundreds of millions of dollars worth of contracts for the General Electric Co. jet engine plant in suburban Evendale.

Rep. John J. Gilligan, D-Ohio, said Thursday as Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced the contract award to Lockheed Aircraft Corp. that GE will get $460 million for engines for 58 of the planes.

Gilligan also said the Evendale plant will get up to $500 million in other contracts from the Air Force.

GE officials say the contracts will mean thousands of new jobs at the sprawling jet engine plant.

General Guild Maps Plans for Supporting Levy

General Guild personnel met last night to map plans for the organization's program to sponsor and promote a half-mill levy that would supplement the general fund at Berger Hospital.

Current steps are being taken to initiate a program that will strive to answer citizens' questions concerning the hospital operation. A General Guild committee will be set up to compile the questions and provide answers.

The General Guild also is in the process of selecting a Citizen's Committee for the purpose of promoting the levy campaign. Several local business and industry officials have indicated they will cooperate with this phase of the program.

A portion of last night's meeting was devoted to a question and answer period relative to the hospital levy. Taking part in the session were Doctors F. W. Anderson, H. H. Swope and Ray Carroll and approximately 50 representatives of the various guilds.

BERGER'S Board of Governors-Commissioners has turned the levy campaign over to the General Guild. In addition to the citizens' question and answer role, Guild members already have moved to distribute informational literature throughout the city, with Mrs. Roy H. Huffer Jr. directing the effort.

The request for hospital financial support by way of a countywide vote on the half-mill levy was submitted by Berger's Board of Governors in July. The proposal will be decided at the November election.

The decision to seek public support was made following an extensive study on ways and

Ohio Senate Apportioning Foes United

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Democrats and Republicans who could not get together on reapportioning the Ohio Legislature are in full agreement on the spokesman who will present the case in federal court against changing the system by which state senators are elected.

Senate leaders of both parties tapped attorneys Hugh A. Sherer of Columbus and Kenneth Weinberg of Cleveland for the job of presenting the argument here today before a special three-judge panel in federal court.

The court has set an Oct. 15 deadline for submission of a reapportionment plan. Today's hearing is on a suit filed by Clarence Blosser of Logan, who asked the court to declare the present apportionment of the Senate unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will attend the hearing as representative of the Ohio Apportionment Board. He is expected to submit a reapportionment plan to the court in the next few days.

One such plan was filed Monday by state Rep. Thomas A. Pottenger of Cincinnati, a Republican. Pottenger's plan calls for the election of two senators next year from each of Ohio's 24 congressional districts, and for revision of senatorial districts after the 1970 census.

means of improving the hospital's financial picture. Initial study indicates the half-mill levy would produce about $60 to $70,000 yearly to bolster the hospital's sagging general fund. The measure would extend for five years.

Board members have noted that Berger's financial outlook is in difficulty, due mainly to the lack of consistent patient occupancy. They said the hospital's census must remain high if expenses are to be met, since Berger receives no support in the way of city or county tax money, or other affiliation.

Berger has been required to operate on its own in the past due to this absence of public assistance. The levy has been defined as an alternative to help make ends meet. The closing of part or all of the facilities was listed as another alternative.

Health Chief Assumes OK Due Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, told the nation's doctors today he assumes they will participate fully in the new medicare program.

Gardner spoke at a national orientation conference of the AMA on the medicare law that was enacted in July.

Gardner's address came on the eve of a meeting of the policy-making American Medical Association House of Delegates to take a new look at the AMA's stand on the new law.

Gardner told representatives of the AMA and health insurance companies that the federal government can enter into "fruitful collaboration" with private organizations while they at the same time retain their integrity.

The secretary said he had been told that doctors fear change, but he added: "You have lived with change."

He tried to allay fear among doctors of considerable paperwork by expressing hope that there will be "a minimum of red tape."

The meeting on medicare today was advanced two weeks after rumblings of controversy developed over the association's attitude on the new health legislation.

'Unpleasant News' Report Defended

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Wes Gallagher, Associated Press general manager, defended newspapers today against criticism that they impaired "the national interest" by publishing unpleasant news from Viet Nam and other trouble spots.

In an address to the Associated Press Managing Editors annual meeting, Gallagher said government officials invoked the "national interest" phrase in an attempt to discourage such news stories.

He declared: "We are not a vehicle to serve the 'national interest' as defined by politicians, but to publish the truth as we see it. This is our birthright and our basic role in serving the public."

Orient Area Farmer Caps Unusual Day with Deer Chase

Yesterday proved to be a rather unusual day for William Green, an Orient area farmer and thoroughbred horse breeder.

He arose in the morning, shot a buffalo at his home, and then in the evening came to the rescue of a California woman who had an accident while transporting 55 fallow deer to a Texas ranch.

She applied her brakes, the trailer jackknifed and overturned, eight deer escaped and three were killed. Fortunately Mrs. Robinson was not harmed.

PARTICIPATING in the ensuing roundup were four Ohio State Highway Patrolmen, two game protectors, two Columbus Zoo officials, Green and several other area residents.

By 2:30 a. m. today the deer had been captured and were taken to Green's farm, where

Anti-Sukarno Plot Fails, Military Says

TOKYO (AP)—Indonesian Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution has crushed an uprising against President Sukarno and both he and Sukarno are safe and well, Radio Jakarta reported Friday night.

The broadcast announcement came a few hours after a revolutionary council led by Lt. Col. Untung, a battalion commander in Sukarno's bodyguard, announced it had seized power and proclaimed itself "the source of all authority."

The Malaysian government radio in Kuala Lumpur, which has been monitoring Jakarta broadcasts, said army units under Gen. Suharto, loyal to Sukarno and Nasution, were instrumental in smashing Untung's power move.

The Jakarta Radio said "those responsible for the coup have been arrested," Malaysian officials reported.

Kuala Lumpur radio monitors said Nasution and Suharto, using the crack Siliwangi division, captured the Jakarta government radio station after some fighting.

The Siliwangi division played a major role in putting down rebellions by army colonels in Sumatra in 1958. It recently moved into the city, ostensibly to take part in the armed forces day observances next Tuesday. Untung charged in one broadcast that army generals planned to seize the government before armed forces day.

The Jakarta broadcast announcing Nasution's victory also said Maj. Gen. Achmad Yani, army commander, and five other loyal generals had been captured by Untung's forces and their fate was unknown. It said "cleaning up operations" were under way by Nasution's troops.

After the outbreak of Jakarta broadcasts on Nasution's counter-coup, the Indonesian radio began playing music, Malaysian monitors said.

Gen. Suharto was described by informed Indonesian sources as a former commander in central Java and a known anti-Communist. Nasution was considered the major obstacle to Communist demands for increased civilian control of the army.

Untung's revolutionary council, during its bid for supremacy, had declared that Sukarno, 64, was "under protection" of the council. This led to speculation that the strongman had been removed.

There was no immediate report of Sukarno's whereabouts. Untung, in a broadcast before the government's countermove, had said he took the action because a number of generals and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had planned an anti-Sukarno coup.

Radio Jakarta at that time appeared to have been under his control. An earlier broadcast by Radio Jakarta announced formal-

Castro, in a statement broadcast by Havana Radio, elaborated on his offer of Tuesday in which he said he would allow any Cubans to leave their homeland to join relatives or go into exile in the United States.

U.S. officials at that time voiced doubt of Castro's statement, saying it was a propaganda move.

"The North American State Department declared that if my words of Sept. 28 related to those who desired to leave for the U.S. were serious, I should make the proposal through diplomatic channels, in which case the State Department would give it a most careful consideration," Castro said.

He said the Cuban government would provide two free daily flights to transport Cubans to the United States, presumably to Miami where the large majority of Cubans seek haven after fleeing their homeland in small boats, 90 miles across the treacherous Gulf Stream to the Florida Keys.

General Guild personnel met last night to map plans for the organization's program to sponsor and promote a half - mill levy that would supplement the general fund at Berger Hospital.

Current steps are being taken to initiate a program that will strive to answer citizens' questions concerning the hospital operation. A General Guild committee will be set up to compile the questions and provide answers.

The General Guild also is in the process of selecting a Citizens' Committee for the purpose of promoting the levy campaign. Several local business and industry officials have indicated they will cooperate with this phase of the program.

A portion of last night's meeting was devoted to a question and answer period relative to the hospital levy. Taking part in the session were Doctors F. W. Anderson, H. H. Swope and Ray Carroll and approximately 50 representatives of the various guilds.

BERGER'S Board of Governors-Commissioners has turned the levy campaign over to the General Guild. In addition to the citizens' question and answer role, Guild members already have moved to distribute informational literature throughout the city, with Mrs. Roy H. Huffer Jr. directing the effort.

The request for hospital financial support by way of a countywide vote on the half-mill levy was submitted by Berger's Board of Governors in July. The proposal will be decided at the November election.

The decision to seek public support was made following an extensive study on ways and

Ohio Senate Apportioning Foes United

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Democrats and Republicans who could not get together on reapportioning the Ohio Legislature are in full agreement on the spokesmen who will present the case in federal court against changing the system by which state senators are elected.

Senate leaders of both parties tapped attorneys Hugh A. Sherer of Columbus and Kenneth Weinberg of Cleveland for the job of presenting the argument here today before a special three-judge panel in federal court.

The court has set an Oct. 15 deadline for submission of a reapportionment plan. Today's hearing is on a suit filed by Clarence Blosser of Logan, who asked the court to declare the present apportionment of the Senate unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will attend the hearing as representative of the Ohio Apportionment Board. He is expected to submit a reapportionment plan to the court in the next few days.

One such plan was filed Monday by state Rep. Thomas A. Pottenger of Cincinnati, a Republican. Pottenger's plan calls for the election of two senators next year from each of Ohio's 24 congressional districts, and for revision of senatorial districts after the 1970 census.

means of improving the hospital's financial picture. Initial study indicates the half - mill levy would produce about $60 to $70,000 yearly to bolster the hospital's sagging general fund. The measure would extend for five years.

Board members have noted that Berger's financial outlook is in difficulty, due mainly to the lack of consistent patient occupancy. They said the hospital's census must remain high if expenses are to be met, since Berger receives no support in the way of city or county tax money, or other affiliation.

Berger has been required to operate on its own in the past due to this absence of public assistance. The levy has been defined as an alternative to help make ends meet. The closing of part or all of the facilities was listed as another alternative.

Health Chief Assumes OK Due Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, told the nation's doctors today he assumes they will participate fully in the new medicare program.

Gardner spoke at a national orientation conference of the AMA on the medicare law that was enacted in July.

Gardner's address came on the eve of a meeting of the policy-making American Medical Association House of Delegates to take a new look at the AMA's stand on the new law.

Gardner told representatives of the AMA and health insurance companies that the federal government can enter into "fruitful collaboration" with private organizations while they at the same time retain their integrity.

The secretary said he had been told that doctors fear change, but he added: "You have lived with change."

He tried to allay fear among doctors of considerable paperwork by expressing hope that there will be "a minimum of red tape."

The meeting on medicare today was advanced two weeks after rumblings of controversy developed over the association's attitude on the new health legislation.

'Unpleasant News' Report Defended

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Wes Gallagher, Associated Press general manager, defended newspapers today against criticism that they impaired "the national interest" by publishing unpleasant news from Viet Nam and other trouble spots.

In an address to the Associated Press Managing Editors annual meeting, Gallagher said government officials invoked the "national interest" phrase in an attempt to discourage such news stories.

He declared: "We are not a vehicle to serve the 'national interest' as defined by politicians, but to publish the truth as we see it. This is our birthright and our basic role in serving the public."

Orient Area Farmer Caps Unusual Day with Deer Chase

Yesterday proved to be a rather unusual day for William Green, an Orient area farmer and thoroughbred horse breeder.

He arose in the morning, shot a buffalo at his home, and then in the evening came to the rescue of a California woman who had an accident while transporting 55 fallow deer to a Texas ranch.

Mrs. Ann Robinson, 29, Sylma, Calif., was driving a truck-trailer rig south on Interstate 71 at 7:30 p. m. during yesterday's rain.

She applied her brakes, the trailer jackknifed and overturned, eight deer escaped and three were killed. Fortunately Mrs. Robinson was not harmed.

PARTICIPATING in the ensuing roundup were four Ohio State Highway Patrolmen, two game protectors, two Columbus Zoo officials, Green and several other area residents.

By 2:30 a. m. today the deer had been captured and were taken to Green's farm, where his son is repairing the damaged trailer. Mrs. Robinson is enjoying the hospitality of the Green farmstead.

Anti-Sukarno Plot Fails, Military Says

TOKYO (AP)—Indonesian Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution has crushed an uprising against President Sukarno and both he and Sukarno are safe and well, Radio Jakarta reported Friday night.

The broadcast announcement came a few hours after a revolutionary council led by Lt. Col. Untung, a battalion commander in Sukarno's bodyguard, announced it had seized power and proclaimed itself "the source of all authority."

The Malaysian government radio in Kuala Lumpur, which has been monitoring Jakarta broadcasts, said army units under Gen. Suharto, loyal to Sukarno and Nasution, were instrumental in smashing Untung's power move.

The Jakarta Radio said "those responsible for the coup have been arrested," Malaysian officials reported.

Kuala Lumpur radio monitors said Nasution and Suharto, using the crack Siliwangi division, captured the Jakarta government radio station after some fighting.

The Siliwangi division played a major role in putting down rebellions by army colonels in Sumatra in 1953. It recently moved into the city, ostensibly to take part in the armed forces day observances next Tuesday. Untung charged in one broadcast that army generals planned to seize the government before armed forces day.

The Jakarta broadcast announcing Nasution's victory also said Maj. Gen. Achmad Yani, army commander, and five other loyal generals had been captured by Untung's forces and their fate was unknown. It said "cleaning up operations" were under way by Nasution's troops.

After the outbreak of Jakarta broadcasts on Nasution's counter-coup, the Indonesian radio began playing music, Malaysian monitors said.

Gen. Suharto was described by informed Indonesian sources as a former commander in central Java and a known anti-Communist. Nasution was considered the major obstacle to Communist demands for increased civilian control of the army.

Untung's revolutionary council, during its bid for supremacy, had declared that Sukarno, 64, was "under protection" of the council. This led to speculation that the strongman had been removed.

There was no immediate report of Sukarno's whereabouts.

Untung, in a broadcast before the government's countermove, had said he took the action because a number of generals and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had planned an anti-Sukarno coup.

Radio Jakarta at that time appeared to have been under his control.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP)—State police dragged Negro demonstrators from a street today when the group lay down in an attempt to block school buses carrying white children.

Eleven Negroes, some of them with school books, dropped to the wet pavement when three yellow school buses started to

When they refused to move, the troopers dragged them out of the street. None was hurt and the demonstrators quickly got up and returned to their cars.

Jury Acts In Favor of Defendants

A petit jury returned a verdict yesterday in favor of the defense in a civil suit heard by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

The jury denied Basic Construction Materials its plea for $2,272.95 from Carl F. Turben and others, Route 1, Lancaster, following a day and a half of testimony.

The Basic firm claimed it was due $2,272.95 for materials used in the construction of a house in Fairfield County owned by the Turbens. Contractor for the construction was Frank G. Cahill, who had declared bankruptcy after the Turben home was completed. The materials were allegedly purchased by the contractor for the Turben home.

E. R. Lentz, Lancaster attorney, presented the case for the Turbens. Basic Construction Materials was represented by Robert H. Huffer.

tion of a new, 45-member cabinet laced with perhaps a dozen Communists, but D.N. Aidit, leader of Indonesia's 3 million-member Communist party, was not on the list.

The revolutionary council said it had arrested a number of generals.

Radio Jakarta said the council of generals "had planned to conduct a power exhibition on Armed Forces Day, Oct. 5 this year, by sending to Jakarta troops from East, Central and West Java."

"It was to prevent such a counterrevolutionary coup that Lt. Col. Untung took the initiative to launch the 30th of September operation which has proved successful," the broadcast said.

It said the council of generals was "a subversive body sponsored by the CIA" which "has been very active lately, especially after President Sukarno was seriously ill in the first week of August this year."

"Their hope that President Sukarno would die of his illness did not materialize."

Although Sukarno has been reported suffering from a serious kidney ailment for several years, this was the first word that he was ill in August.

3,000 Ohioans

would be about 15,000.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services preparedness subcommittee, said in an interview: "I haven't seen the plan, and I couldn't comment on it."

This came as something of a surprise since McNamara had told a news conference Thursday: "We have talked to . . . leaders of the Senate in the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, and they have received the plan favorably."

Asked whether Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance had briefed him, as well as other House and Senate leaders, before the McNamara announcement, Stennis said: "He gave me a little sheet." But he indicated he hadn't read the material furnished by the Defense Department.

Two House members who played a major part in preventing the earlier merger proposal appeared to fall in line with the new plan.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., and Rep. William G. Bray, I-Ind., joined in saying: "This plan in no way involved the merger as contemplated by the Department of Defense last December."

Hebert and Bray agreed that McNamara's statement that the new move is within the Pentagon's statutory authority and "under the law does not require further congressional action."

McNamara, too, called it a different plan from the one he had suggested last winter.

The chief difference is that it omits any attempt to merge Guard and Reserve units into a single high-priority organization totaling about 575,000 men, all in the Guard.

However, there were important similarities, and McNamara evidently achieves under the new plan his basic objective of a highly equipped, fully manned organization which has small place for Army Reserve units.

The 145,000-man force will be made up of 982 units.

The overwhelming bulk of the men are National Guardsmen, 130,000 guardsmen in 31 units.

The Reserve gets only 15,000 men of this force in 160 units.

What's more, the three divisions and six brigades which form the core of the "select force" are all in the National Guard.

Jury Acts In Favor of Defendants

A petit jury returned a verdict yesterday in favor of the defense in a civil suit heard by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

The jury denied Basic Construction the $2,272.95 for materials used in the construction of a house in Fairfield County owned by the Turbens. Contractor for the construction was Frank G. Cahill, who had declared bankruptcy after the Turben home was completed. The materials were allegedly purchased by the contractor for the Turben home.

E. R. Lentz, Lancaster attorney, presented the case for the Turbens. Basic Construction Materials was represented by Robert H. Huffer.

The Winter Haven plant will be similar to the new Owens-Illinois shipping box facility that was officially opened last week in this community. Another O-I construction at Newberry, S.C. The Florida plant will employ about 125 persons when in full production.

tion of a new, 45-member cabinet laced with perhaps a dozen Communists, but D.N. Aidit, leader of Indonesia's 3 million-member Communist party, was not on the list.

The revolutionary council said it had arrested a number of generals.

Radio Jakarta said the council of generals "had planned to conduct a power exhibition on Armed Forces Day, Oct. 5 this year, by sending to Jakarta troops from East, Central and West Java."

"It was to prevent such a counter-revolutionary coup that Lt. Col. Untung took the initiative to launch the 30th of September operation which has proved successful," the broadcast said.

It said the council of generals was "a subversive body sponsored by the CIA" which "has been very active lately, especially after President Sukarno was seriously ill in the first week of August this year."

"Their hope that President Sukarno would die of his illness did not materialize."

Although Sukarno has been reported suffering from a serious kidney ailment for several years, this was the first word that he was ill in August.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services preparedness subcommittee, said in an interview: "I haven't seen the plan, and I couldn't comment on it."

This came as something of a surprise since McNamara had told a news conference Thursday: "We have talked to . . . leaders of the Senate in the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, and they have received the plan favorably."

Asked whether Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance had briefed him, as well as other House and Senate leaders, before the McNamara announcement, Stennis said: "He gave me a little sheet." But he indicated he hadn't read the material furnished by the Defense Department.

Two House members who played a major part in preventing the earlier merger proposal appeared to fall in line with the new plan.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., and Rep. William G. Bray, I-Ind., joined in saying: "This plan in no way involved the merger as contemplated by the Department of Defense last December."

Hebert and Bray agreed that McNamara's statement that the new move is within the Pentagon's statutory authority and "under the law does not require further congressional action."

McNamara, too, called it a different plan from the one he had suggested last winter.

The chief difference is that it omits any attempt to merge Guard and Reserve units into a single high-priority organization totaling about 575,000 men, all in the Guard.

However, there were important similarities, and McNamara evidently achieves under the new plan his basic objective of a highly equipped, fully manned organization which has small place for Army Reserve units.

The 145,000-man force will be made up of 982 units. The overhauling bulk of the men are National Guardsmen, 130,000 guardsmen in 31 units.

The Reserve gets only 15,000 men of this force in 160 units.

What's more, the three divisions and six brigades which form the core of the "select force" are all in the National Guard.

100 Million Trillion

The intriguing old question whether there is life on Mars has profound implications for the whole universe, for if there is life on Mars — even a few colonies of microbes — chances are “infinitely high” that there is life elsewhere.

This is the view of Dr. Colin Pittendrigh, dean of the graduate school and professor of biology at Princeton. Mariner 4, in its picture-taking flight past Mars two months ago, produced no sign of life, nor was it really expected to.

But, Dr. Pittendrigh argues, that doesn't lessen the importance of sending unmanned Voyager craft about 1971 for a “look” right on the surface.

After that, judging by a suggestion from two General Electric scientists, a robot could roam Mars for as long as two years, time to cover a lot of ground and all the seasons. In the mid-1980s man himself might go.

Even then he would not be satisfied, for there are some 100 million trillion planetary systems to look into. There should be no limit to space adventure if the dollar holds out on earth.

Man Finds Suit-Buying Is Ordeal

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—“Why don't you break down and buy yourself a new suit, Rover?” said the gal who burns my breakfast toast.

“What's wrong with the one I've got on?”

“Well, it looks like you wore it through a heavy downpour to vote for William McKinley. Except I don't believe lapels that wide have been in style since Grover Cleveland's first administration.”

“When you married me, you knew I didn't look like Cary Grant,” I replied.

“Yes,” said my wife sweetly, “but I didn't realize the difference would increase so much—year after year.”

That day I walked by a men's store several times but didn't have the courage to go in. I have a born fear of clothing salesmen. With me buying a new suit is a committee job. So I asked a couple of office pals to go with me.

The salesman took one look at the three of us and promptly went to work on my two friends. Left alone, I walked down a rack of suits gingerly feeling the fabrics,

I overheard two other salesmen discussing me:

“Think the fat guy is a customer?”

“Now, he's just another sleeve milker. He's already got half the sleeves on the rack out of line.”

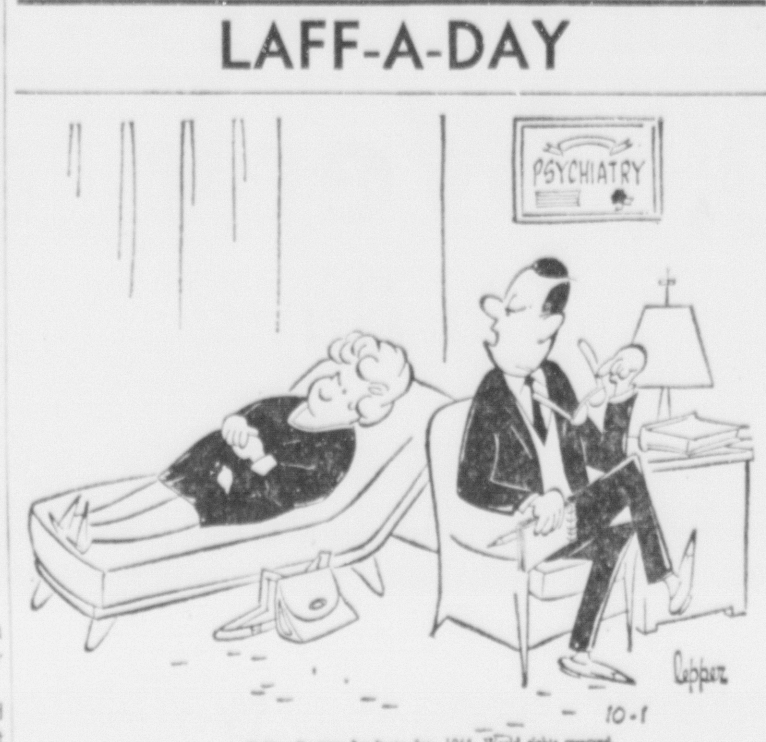

I went over to a three-way mirror. Who was that seedy-looking character staring back? Could it be me?

Where do clothing stores find such cruel mirrors anyway? It takes all of a middle-aged man's self-flattery to get used to looking at himself in the single-imaged bathroom mirror.

But to see one's self from three angles is unnerving to any unprepared fellow. I bent down and saw the gray on back of my head as well as on the side, the spreading baldness on top. The wrinkles in my suit seemed to match those under my eyes.

A few moments before that mirror had aged me 20 years. Why, I look better in those comic mirrors at Coney Island.

“Come on—we've got to get back to the office,” said my friends. One had bought two suits, the other a sports jacket “Stop talking about your neighbors and start talking about yourself.”

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The signs of fall are coming thick and fast this year. Even if you didn't set foot out of doors you couldn't miss them.

An oil company has raised the price of heating oil in the Northeast. That makes autumn almost as official as did the equinox.

The stock market, having achieved its traditional summer rally, is now turning its eyes toward the other dear legend — the year-end rally. And chartists of stock price trends can even show you the historical ups and downs of autumn.

But as usual this time of year, even the stock market has to set almost hourly records if it wants to compete for the attention with the race for the baseball pennant. And the biggest folk rite of all, the World Series, is just ahead. There's plenty of business involved — especially for the merchants and hotel keeper in the lucky host cities.

New car models are popping up all over. And so is the annual debate as to how the new prices actually compare with those of last year's models. As ever, there's the factor of changes — or improvements, to use the company jargon — and how much these affect cost.

And this fall there's additional confusion from making standard some safety features which last year's buyer had the choice of ignoring or ordering at an extra charge. This year the cost of the devices is imbedded in the official price lists on the new models. Also there's a cut in excise taxes to reckon with—last year Uncle Sam was in the last price for a 10 per cent tax; this year for 7 per cent.

The weather is particularly in the business and consumer news at this turn of the season. If the time for hurricanes. The first snows tie up traffic in ever widening parts of the land. Farmers and supermarket patrons compute the size of the harvest — and the trend of food prices.

Affluent Americans switch attention from summer resorts to winter resorts. Whole communities and transportation systems feel the change in the season — a nip in the northern air, a zip in the southern.

This is the time of year when Congress talks more and more about adjourning — and about which bills to rush through first, which to shelve for another session. Business and taxpayer hopes are tied to some of the decisions.

And each year at this time the money masters gather for their annual look-see at how the international monetary system is working — and how more funds can be channeled to lands hungry for investment dollars without upsetting the financial stability or growth of the luckier ones. This fall the money managers have decided to turn the question of reform over to a group of 10 leading financial nations for debate and a report next spring.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is asthma always an inherited condition?

When asthma occurs it can usually be traced to some inherited allergy. However, this does not mean that everyone whose parents have had asthmatic attacks will themselves develop asthma.

Is wheezing in the chest always a sign of asthma?

It certainly is not. There are other respiratory conditions that produce wheezing. Although they seem to resemble asthma, they are not true asthma.

Wheezing occurs when the bronchial tubes leading to the lungs develop a spasm, become narrowed, and air must be forcefully pulled into the lungs. Even a simple bronchitis can cause a wheeze which disappears when the infection is over.

What are the causes of asthma?

Asthma can be the result of an allergy or sensitivity to foods, pollens, dust, insecticides, animal fur and almost any substance that is inhaled or eaten. Allergy to inhalants are more often the cause of asthma than are allergies to food.

Bacteria that cause infection in the nose, throat and sinuses may themselves be the irritant or allergen responsible for asthma.

Besides these major reasons, there are other factors that seem to be the “trigger” that sets off an attack of acute asthma.

Marked changes in temperature and humidity, irritation by the fumes of paints and chemicals, even extreme fatigue can be responsible.

Emotional upsets and inner psychological conflicts are closely identified with the onset and continuation of many asthmatic attacks.

By what symptoms can an attack of asthma be recognized?

An episode of asthma can be a terrifying one to the patient and to the observers. During a typical attack the patient complains of not being able to fill his lungs deeply with air. Shortness of breath, wheezing and a sense of tightness in the chest make this experience most unpleasant.

How can one discover the

Unserious Election in NY

By John Chamberlain

With most of the New York metropolitan newspapers silenced by the strike, the New York City mayoralty campaign has taken on some curious overtones. Those who believe in the primacy of the written word are now alleging that the effect of the newspaper blackout has been to freeze things at the status quo point of late September. This would naturally favor the candidacy of John V. Lindsay, the Republican and Liberal choice to succeed Mayor Robert Wagner, for he had already had the benefit of several months of campaigning before the Democrats could get around to nominating Wagner's controller Abraham Beame to run for the post.

The question, however, is whether the written words of July, August, and early September will stand up against the spoken words of the first days of autumn. Nobody expects the Conservative Party candidate, William Buckley Jr., to do much better than the New York Mets in the final standings of the race, but like the catalyzer in a chemical experiment, the ability to ask damaging questions in three-cornered television debate is bound to produce some unforeseen crystallizations. Mr. Buckley has been twitted as an “unserious candidate,” and he is written off by Mr. Lindsay as a “charming professional negotiator,” but to date he has been the only campaigner to ask really serious questions. As might be expected, he gets no answers.

In short, his “charming negotiator” results in highlighting the inability of the other two candidates to come up with politically feasible solutions for New York City's terrifying problems.

Before he started campaigning, Mr. Buckley suggested an ingenious method for relieving New York City of some of its traffic congestion. He proposed an extra toll for out-of-the-city cars crossing into Manhattan Island by the various bridges and tunnels. As a solution this would be physically possible; it might reduce the cars on Manhattan's streets by sufficient numbers to let the locally owned cars move. But Mr. Buckley quickly learned, through consultation with his legal advisers, that no special charge could be levied on out-of-state autos without invading the constitutional right of the federal government to regulate commerce between the states. Here, once again, New York City is hemmed in by Washington D. C.

So the Buckley ingenuity is faced with a hurdle that would require a constitutional amendment before it could become effective.

But at least he had come up with an idea. The major party candidates haven't succeeded in doing as well, which puts a slightly different gloss on the whole idea of “negativism,” charming or otherwise.

Mr. Buckley is a serious debater, schooled in the art since his undergraduate days at Yale and even before. But he confesses to an inability to enter into serious debate with either Democrat Beame or Republican Liberal Lindsay. He asked John Lindsay three times if he had any proposal to insure New Yorkers with continued newspaper service. Mr. Lindsay's answer each time was to

Blind Youths 'See' Model Of Spaceship

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Like a concert pianist, Willie Mincey's sensitive fingers caressed the model of the Gemini capsule.

"Oh, now I see them," he shouted as he touched the tiny model astronauts seated in the cockpit.

"Hey, that's great," the 15-year-old eighth grader said, a broad grin spreading over his face. "I'm surprised they can show that small detail."

Gary LeGates, 14, found the ejection seat tracks and then moved his fingers upward.

"Here's the antenna unit," he said, guiding Willie's fingers toward it.

In the background came the sound of astronaut Virgil I. Grissom's taped conversation with earth as he was rocketed skyward.

The two youths were among the first blind children of thousands from across the nation who will see the space exhibit designed for them by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The show consists of five booths and some 40 models constructed so they can be "seen" through the fingers of blind youths.

A taped commentary explains each exhibit.

After the exhibit leaves Baltimore Sunday, it will tour schools for the blind across the nation.

Teen-Agers Make Good Use Of Pickaway Youth Canteen

YOUNGSTERS RELAX — A television set is one of the entertainment facilities provided at the Pickaway County Youth Canteen, located on the second floor at the Memorial Hall. Viewing a program here are, from the left: Tom Evans, Patty Glitt, Sandra Tracey and Craig Benzenberg.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 10. The goal is $40,000.

By SUE EDWARDS
Many Pickaway County teenagers make good use of the Youth Canteen.

The juke box plays constantly, the ping-pong table and the two billiard tables are always in use. And the television is on for those who want to watch their favorite programs.

Mrs. Francis Palm and her son, James, Canteen advisers, circulate among the active 14-19 year olds. Both agree the teenagers are polite and cooperative.

Mrs. Palm and James chaperone at the Canteen every night that it is open. And four additional couples are asked to chaperone when there is a dance with a live band — about one a month.

THE YOUTH CANTEEN is open on Wednesday and Thursday until 10 p. m. and on Friday and Saturday until 11 p. m. All activities are provided in one huge room on the second floor of Memorial Hall. High School age members pay $1.50 every six months for a membership; 7th and 8th graders pay 75 cents every six months for a junior membership. This year there are approximately 425 members.

Money collected from memberships, plus that provided through the Community Fund, goes for rent, salaries, repair of equipment, the purchase of records and new facilities, and to pay for the live bands.

The money must be budgeted very carefully to meet these demands. And naturally, teenagers wish there was more money available for newer records and more live dances.

The newspaper Ghibli of Tripoli said Lord Moynihan, who plays the bong drums in his wife's oriental band, was considering renouncing his title and running for a seat in the House of Commons.

THE YOUTH CANTEEN fulfills an important need in Pickaway County. It provides a supervised recreation spot for teenagers where they can participate in organized activities and use the recreational facilities available for all members. Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren Nose Trouble!

DEAR ABBY: This isn't exactly a problem, but here goes: I have an extra-sensitive sense of smell. Whenever I come into a room where there is a dog owner, I can SMELL it. No matter how clean people keep themselves, I know immediately when I get close to them that they have a dog at home. Please don't think this is a slam against dogs or dog owners because some of my best friends have dogs, although I, myself, have never had one. When I mention this to some dog owners, they think I am imagining things, and I am sure there are some who think there is something wrong with me. Maybe there is, but so far I have never guessed wrong. If you use this letter, sign me

"SNIFFY"

DEAR "SNIFFY": If what you say is true (and it could be), I advise you to keep it to yourself. Dog owners will be more insulted than flattered to be detected by your nose. And friends are worth more than a few scents

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who runs around with other women and, when confronted by his wife, he always says, "Well, I always come home to you, don't I, Honey?"

What is that supposed to prove? TENNESSEE SAp DEAR SAp: It proves that your husband wants to have his cake and eat it, too—with your blessing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young lady of 20. I work in an office with seven men, who are all married. I am single. The nearest eating place is four blocks away, so sometimes when it rains several of the men have asked me to have lunch with them as I don't have a car. I have always declined because I don't think it's right for a single girl to lunch with married men. And, besides, I don't want any of the wives to get the wrong idea. I would like your opinion on this.

CAREFUL DEAR CAREFUL: There is safety in numbers. Go with a group, but not with one man alone and you won't have to worry about what his wife will think.

DEAR ABBY: Please say something in your column about all those tired milkmen jokes. (You know, the note in the bottle saying, "Come in, my husband is out of town.") The average milkman doesn't deliver anything but milk. I know. I am a milkman with 200 customers in walk-up apartments. The walking alone can wear a good man out. Also, if your truck is parked in front of one place too long, the company gets 30 calls from neighbors. There are exceptions, of course. I once knew a freshman milkman who had a little redhead on his route. She started getting a pint of milk a day, and ended up getting fresh eggs, butter, cottage cheese and whipping cream by the quart. Naturally she never paid any bills. He didn't last long. Most housewives want only a cheery good morning, accurate bills and friendly, but not intimate, service. (Sign me)

VETERAN MILKMAN CONFIDENTIAL TO CONCERNED parents; do not interfere Young people have their own special way of measuring affection. I have been told of a girl, 12, who came home all starry-eyed and informed her parents that a certain boy "liked" her. When asked how she knew, she said, "Because every time he passes me in the hall he kicks me!" Her father said that the day she comes home with two black eyes he would know she is really "in love." They didn't interfere and the girl got over this boy and dozen others before "finding the one."

Tiny Car Firm of Athens Holds Rein on Production

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Little One of the automobile industry is holding the price line for 1966 — and the color line and the style line and even sometimes the assembly line.

While the Big Three of the automotive business start the battle to sell the new cars their plants are making, Midge Motors Corp. of Athens worries about holding sales down to the pace of its 12-man factory.

The 10-foot-long cars Midge Motors will sell in 1966 will cost just the same as those it sold in 1965—under $1,000 fully equipped and including taxes.

They'll look just the same, too, and they'll be the same color. Midge's only model is a two seat convertible with automatic transmission, painted white.

Midge can turn out five cars a day at most. But it doesn't average that many. And sometimes, says co-owner Claude Dry, "We just shut down assembly and have everybody work on development."

Automotive development and research "is our main interest," says Dry.

Perhaps as a result, Midge Motors makes nearly every part—Dry excludes engines, tires, batteries, headlights, horn and steering wheel—including all body stampings, gears and other essentials.

Midge holds patents on most of the parts. "Almost everything on the car is novel," Dry says, "original with us."

Dry and his partner, Dale Orcutt, started producing their two-seater in 1951. They met during World War II in the Civil Air Patrol and began thinking of producing a light car using principles of aircraft construction.

Their King Midget weighs 600 pounds and its 12-horsepower engine will speed it up to 55 or 60 miles an hour—with up to 60 miles per gallon of gas on the highway.

Cars are sold in every state, with most advertising by word of mouth. The cars aren't sold in Athens, however—the company feels it might hurt local feelings because it couldn't meet the demand from this university town.

Man Is Fatally Shot In Traffic Argument

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Robert E. Colter, 35, was shot to death during an argument over a traffic accident Thursday, police said.

Zellis Payne, 30, of Akron told police he was following Colter to his home when Colter's car stopped suddenly and Payne's car slammed into it. Payne said he went to Colter's car and Colter pulled a pistol after a verbal exchange. Payne said he then drew a pistol and shot Colter.

Colter was carrying a cap pistol, police said. Payne was held on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Book Review

EDITOR'S NOTE — Starting today, The Herald is initiating a new Book Review column that will be published at regular intervals. The information is compiled by Mrs. Sue Pagniano. Most of the books reviewed are available at the Pickaway County District Public Library.

THE SOURCE, by James A. Michener (Random House), 909 pages.

Makor, a Hebrew word meaning "the source" is the name of an archeological tell in Israel which also is the novel's title. Hence, the title — "The Source."

A tell is an area built up from the ground by the debris left by past generations. A water supply prompted people to settle in this area before there were domesticated animals, agriculture, society or religion.

People continued to settle in the same site through thousands of generations because of the water. Each left behind not only material representations of their culture but also fragments of their religion.

It is with religion that this book is primarily concerned and specifically that of the Jews, although they did not appear on the scene until many generations later.

However, their tenacity was stretched beyond belief as they were used, abused, massacred, humiliated and exiled from the time of the pagans through to the modern era. Always they returned and although their leaders modified and clarified their laws down through the ages, theirs was never altered by others, although many religions borrowed from them.

A tell is divided into layers. Each is composed of the debris of one era. The caveman, on the bottom, had a layer of deposits, the pagan residue made another layer and so on. These layers of deposit are called "levels."

Michener's method of delivery is take from one tell level to the other, from bottom to top. Using a fragment from that level, he spins a tale of people which is very personal and realistic in one's imagination.

Since each level is separated in time by several generations, one might suppose that the story would consist of many characters. However, the continuity is obtained by following one family line from the time of Ur the caveman to Urbaal the pagan, to Jabaal the Jew who saw no harm in also worshipping Baal the God of the Land — to ad infinitum — as this particular family life continued by absorbing the conquerors of their era.

While the author spends most of his time with those who built the tell by their presence, he does not forget those who are trying to reconstruct the past. An Irish-American Catholic, an Arab, and a Jew and Jewess, who work together to ascertain the values and religions of the past, discover there is a great deal to be learned about themselves and their comrades.

Through it all one gets a glimpse of a nation striving for a "promised land" although each vision of "the land of milk and honey" may differ somewhat from his fellow citizen.

If one enjoys historical novels, especially those of a religious bent, this book should prove delightful. It is a luxury not only in its wealth of characters, but also in the quality of its artistry and knowledge of people and their religions.

Mental Health Study Report Is Outlined

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 300-member citizens committee has received a report on an 18-month health study which emphasizes prevention as the best treatment for mental illness.

The 150-page report, which is to be part of an Ohio plan for a comprehensive mental health project to be submitted to Gov. James A. Rhodes this fall, links mental illness to poverty, family breakdown and socio-economic change.

Dr. William M. Heston, vice president of Western Reserve University and chairman of the committee, presented the report Thursday.

The report pointed out a Hamilton County study which indicated that lower income groups are in the majority in state mental institutions and recommended:

—Support of family planning and its availability to all who want it.

—Significant increases in public assistance grants to maintain children in their own homes.

—Development by the Public Welfare Department of family counseling services for the emotionally disturbed.

Comsat Seeks OK To Orbit 4 Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. proposed today to develop four improved satellites for use in the Apollo space project as well as in commercial communications.

Two would be launched into synchronous orbits 22,300 miles above the earth next summer—one over the Pacific between Hawaii and Midway Island, and the other over the Atlantic near the west coast of Africa.

The other two would be reserves for use in case it became necessary to replace either or both of the initial spacecraft.

They would be specially designed to handle requirements of the National Communications System for reliable communications during the Apollo space program aimed at eventually landing men on the moon.

They also would make about 100 voice-grade circuits available for commercial and other uses.

Comsat made known its plans in an application to the federal communications system for authority to build the four satellites. The application also asked the FCC to approve the technical characteristics of the proposed satellites.

The FCC has 30 days in which to act on the requests.

Book Review

EDITOR'S NOTE — Starting today, The Herald is initiating a new Book Review column that will be published at regular intervals. The information is compiled by Mrs. Sue Pagniano. Most of the books reviewed are available at the Pickaway County District Public Library.

THE SOURCE, by James A. Michener (Random House), 909 pages.

Makor, a Hebrew word meaning "the source" is the name of an archeological tell in Israel which also is the novel's title. Hence, the title — "The Source."

A tell is an area built up from the ground by the debris left by past generations. A water supply prompted people to settle in this area before there were domesticated animals, agriculture, society or religion.

People continued to settle in the same site through thousands of generations because of the water. Each left behind not only material representations of their culture but also fragments of their religion.

It is with religion that this book is primarily concerned and specifically that of the Jews, although they did not appear on the scene until many generations later.

However, their tenacity was stretched beyond belief as they were used, abused, massacred, humiliated and exiled from the time of the pagans through to the modern era. Always they returned and although their leaders modified and clarified their laws down through the ages, theirs was never altered by others, although many religions borrowed from them.

A tell is divided into layers. Each is composed of the debris of one era. The caveman, on the bottom, had a layer of deposits, the pagan residue made another layer and so on. These layers of deposit are called "levels."

Tiny Car Firm of Athens Holds Rein on Production

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Little One of the automobile industry is holding the price line for 1966 — and the color line and the style line and even sometimes the assembly line.

While the Big Three of the automotive business start the battle to sell the new cars their plants are making, Midge Motors Corp. of Athens worries about holding sales down to the pace of its 12-man factory.

The 10-foot-long cars Midget Motors will sell in 1966 will cost just the same as those it sold in 1965—under $1,000 fully equipped and including taxes.

They'll look just the same, too, and they'll be the same color. Midget's only model is a two seat convertible with automatic transmission, painted white.

Midget can turn out five cars a day at most. But it doesn't average that many. And sometimes, says co-owner Claude Dry, "We just shut down assembly and have everybody work on development."

Automotive development and research "is our main interest" says Dry.

Perhaps as a result, Midget Motors makes nearly every part — Dry excludes engines, tires, batteries, headlights, horn and steering wheel — including all body stampings, gears and other essentials.

Midget holds patents on most of the parts. "Almost everything on the car is novel," Dry says, "original with us."

Dry and his partner, Dale Orcutt, started producing their two-seater in 1951. They met during World War II in the Civil Air Patrol and began thinking of producing a light car using principles of aircraft construction.

Their King Midget weighs 690 pounds and its 12-horsepower engine will speed it up to 55 or 60 miles an hour—with up to 60 miles per gallon of gas on the highway.

Cars are sold in every state, with most advertising by word of mouth. The cars aren't sold in Athens, however—the company feels it might hurt local feelings because it couldn't meet the demand from this university town.

Man Is Fatally Shot In Traffic Argument

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Robert E. Colter, 35, was shot to death during an argument over a traffic accident Thursday, police said.

Zellis Payne, 30, of Akron told police he was following Colter to his home when Colter's car stopped suddenly and Payne's car slammed into it. Payne said he went to Colter's car and Colter pulled a pistol after a verbal exchange. Payne said he then drew a pistol and shot Colter.

Colter was carrying a cap pistol, police said. Payne was held on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Circleville Fire Chief Urges Heating Appliance Check

City Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe today urged Circleville area householders to check heating appliances now to assure proper performance during the cold weather ahead.

"By making this inspection now," Chief Wolfe said, "needed repairs can be made promptly."

"Any heating appliance can get out of adjustment and should be checked annually," the chief pointed out. "Almost any home accident involving heating appliances can be avoided by following simple precautions and common sense."

Among appliances which should be inspected, Wolfe said, are furnaces, water heaters, incinerators and room heaters. All should be checked for proper adjustment, proper ventilation, safe connections and proper operation of safety shut-off devices.

"All heating appliances need proper ventilation to operate safely and at top efficiency," he explained, cautioning that burning any fuel without a good fresh air supply can produce carbon monoxide. Vents carry away the products of combustion and therefore should be checked regularly, he added.

The chief suggested the following seven-point check list to assure safe, efficient operation of home heating equipment:

1. Be certain that the heater is vented to a good chimney.
2. Be sure that there is a cleanout opening with cap in the chimney under the vent (stove pipe).
3. Be sure that the chimney is clean. Blow smoke into the cleanout opening to make sure it is drawing.
4. Be sure that the vent pipe goes up, not down, from the heater to the chimney.
5. Use a safety thimble to keep the pipe from going too far into the chimney. Seal around the pipe with cement or plaster where it enters the chimney.
6. Be sure that some outside fresh air is fed to the space where the heater is located.
7. Don't use a cooking range for room heating.

"It is equally important," Chief Wolfe emphasized, "that a qualified installer connect the heater and make adjustments if it is not working properly. It may save not only many dollars in lower fuel bills but it also could save your life."

Power Company Has New Name

South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., a 29-year-old power company serving an 11-county area, today officially became the South Central Power Co.

The name change was voted by members of the company at the annual meeting Aug. 19. Since then the necessary documents have been filed with Ohio's Secretary of State and the name is official.

South Central Power started in business as a corporate entity in 1936. However, it was more than a year before necessary rights of way and physical properties could be obtained to begin the supply of electric power to its consumers.

Late in 1937, when the delivery of energy was started, South Central served only 288 member-consumers, and operated only 196 miles of line.

The company today has branch offices in Circleville and Canal Winchester plus the home office in Lancaster; serves more than 21,000 consumers and operates more than 3,000 miles of line.

Ohio Editors To Hear Fair Trial Expert

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—A noted lawyer, John R. McConnell of Philadelphia, was named today as a speaker on "Free Press-Fair Trial" at the fall meeting of The Associated Press Society of Ohio.

Harry Yockey, editor of the Dover Reopertor and president of the society, said McConnell would speak at a Sunday morning session of the meeting Oct. 16-17 at Atwood Lake Lodge.

McConnell now is a member of a Philadelphia Bar Association committee studying a proposal to establish "guidelines" on how much and what kind of information should be given the press in criminal cases before trial.

He successfully defended two executives of the Philadelphia Bulletin on contempt of court charges stemming from their refusal to produce for a grand jury certain documents of an investigation of the city administration. The executives originally were convicted, but won an appeal before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

McConnell believes the right of newspapers and other news media to inform the public must be maintained. He said the press gives both sides a chance to express themselves and "to stop one side you would also stop the defendant from giving a denial of the accusations made against him."

He said no accused person should have to wait for the period between indictment and trial before he can deny charges against him.

Ohio Pilot Rockets X15 to 2761 Mph.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Air Force Capt. William J. Knight of Mansfield, Ohio, hit a top speed of 2,761 m.p.h. during his first flight in the X15 experimental plane Thursday.

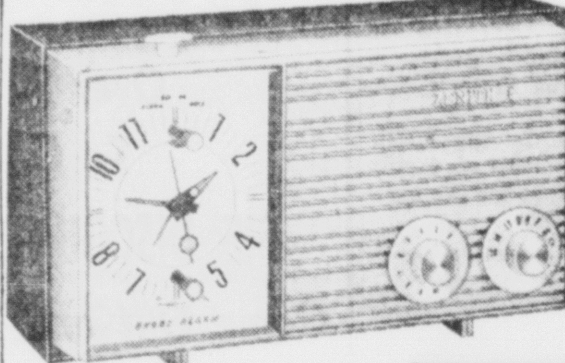

The nine-minute flight at an altitude of 74,000 feet was made to familiarize Knight with the plane. He was selected last spring as a new pilot for the rocket-powered plane.

Rabies Show Increase

CHICAGO (AP)—The journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association says laboratory-confirmed cases of rabies in animals were 20 per cent higher in 1964 than in 1963.

The name change was voted by members of the company at the annual meeting Aug. 19. Since then the necessary documents have been filed with Ohio's Secretary of State and the name is official.

South Central Power started in business as a corporate entity in 1936. However, it was more than a year before necessary rights of way and physical properties could be obtained to begin the supply of electric power to its consumers.

The company today has branch offices in Circleville and Canal Winchester plus the home office in Lancaster, serves more than 21,000 consumers and operates more than 3,000 miles of line.

AS ITS business increased, the company consistently reduced rates to its member-consumers. Each year, for the past five years, it has granted either a specialized decrease or a general decrease in rates.

From a revenue per kilowatt hour of seven cents in 1938, the company now only receives 1.96 cents. In the year 1965, general manager, Darwin Kinder predicts the revenue per KWH will average only 1.8 cents.

An industry goal is the reduction of this revenue yield figure to 1.2 cents by the year 1980. Kinder is confident his company will reach the goal several years before that date, and is hopeful that another general rate decrease can be instituted effective Jan. 1, 1966 — thus bringing his firm closer to the goal.

South Central Power employs 105 people working out of three locations. Its representatives are active in community affairs and the company itself has always stepped in with help on civic betterment.

projects in its service area. John W. Eakin, Pickerington, president of the board of trustees expressed his satisfaction over the action of the members in voting the name change. "We are not a tiny rural organization any longer," he said. "Our company is in the business of supplying electric energy, and our new name describes that function more accurately than the old. Besides, it is a much shorter name, easier to work with, easier to remember."

Both Eakin and Kinder emphasized, however, that the name change signifies no change in the management personnel or policies of the company. "We are still a member-owned electric system," they said. "Our company is still owned by those it serves."

Ohio Editors To Hear Fair Trial Expert

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—A noted lawyer, John R. McConnell of Philadelphia, was named today as a speaker on "Free Press-Fair Trial" at the fall meeting of The Associated Press Society of Ohio.

Harry Yockey, editor of the Dover Reopeter and president of the society, said McConnell would speak at a Sunday morning session of the meeting Oct. 16-17 at Atwood Lake Lodge.

McConnell now is a member of a Philadelphia Bar Association committee studying a proposal to establish "guidelines" on how much and what kind of information should be given the press in criminal cases before trial.

He successfully defended two executives of the Philadelphia Bulletin on contempt of court charges stemming from their refusal to produce for a grand jury certain documents of an investigation of the city administration. The executives originally were convicted, but won an appeal before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

McConnell believes the right of newspapers and other news media to inform the public must be maintained. He said the press gives both sides a chance to express themselves and "to stop one side you would also stop the defendant from giving a denial of the accusations made against him."

He said no accused person should have to wait for the period before indictment and trial before he can deny charges against him.

The nine-minute flight at an altitude of 74,000 feet was made to familiarize Knight with the plane. He was selected last spring as a new pilot for the rocket-powered plane.

Lowly Sailor Is Given Top Brass Treatment

ABOARD USS Kretchmer, South China Sea, (AP)—In his 10 years with the Navy, Petty Officer Charles Clous has never in his dreams imagined himself receiving this kind of treatment.

Here he was right in the middle of a war zone, with the artillery rumbling along the shore and the bombers going over every night.

Four gobs were busy swabbing up the section of the quarterdeck just below the gunmount where he would stand in glory. Two admirals, wearing a total of five stars, stood by to pay him homage and say nice things about him. The skipper had ordered the laundry to run a special on his dress whites, which he hadn't worn in months. Practically the whole crew was polishing brass.

It all came about because Clous had decided to re-enlist for four years, or "ship over" as the Navy calls it, on the same day that two admirals from the Pentagon unexpectedly came calling.

Clous was listed as from Carter Lake, Iowa.

Vice Adm. B. J. Semmes Jr., chief of naval personnel, was taking a look at 7th Fleet operations in Viet Nam. An old destroyer man, he couldn't resist paying a call on the Kretchmer, a destroyer escort. He brought along Rear Adm. Tom Connolly, assistant chief of naval operations for fleet operations.

Not in the 23 years since it was commissioned had the Kretchmer had such a collection of brass aboard.

Lt. Cmdr. Clarence E. Chinn of Grand Junction, Colo., the Kretchmer's young skipper, looked in vain for six clean-shaven seamen to meet the admirals as sideboys at the head of the landing ladder. From the time the Kretchmer steamed through the Panama Canal, early in July, beards had sprouted among the crew.

Chinn finally had to settle for three reasonably clean-shaven specimens facing the admirals as they came up the ladder, and three "bearded wonders" facing aft. The bearded boatswain tooting on the bosun's pipe was beyond recall. No one could pipe the admirals aboard with quite the flourish that PO J.C. Howard Garland of Johnson City, Tenn., put soul into his work.

Lt. R. J. Stong of Philadelphia, the executive officer, scrounged around for a three-star admiral's flag, which isn't exactly standard equipment on an 1,800-ton destroyer escort. He finally came up with a square of blue bunting to which were pasted three paper stars.

As chief of naval personnel, Semmes was delighted to accept the skipper's invitation to preside at the ceremony marking Clous' re-enlistment. Clous was a radarman first class, one of the critical skills in the Navy, and it would give the admiral an opportunity to make a few appropriate remarks about the training and expense that the Navy had gone to to bring Clous to this high degree of expertise.

Halfway through his speech one of the stars blew off the flag and Adm. Semmes' flagship suddenly became Adm. Connolly's flagship.

The admirals took it all in good grace, their general bonhomie having been considerably bolstered by the excellent meal that the mess boys turned out in the wardroom.

All in all it was quite a day

Quiet Russian Town Once Renowned Religious Center

SUZDAL, U.S.S.R. (AP) — On a fine day you can see the sun dancing on the spires and domes of ancient Suzdal from miles distant.

The view across the pleasant countryside then is like a vision of the glory that this quiet town once knew, when it was a renowned religious center.

In the 12th to 14th centuries the Kingdom of Suzdalia embraced a sizeable area of old Russia stretching farther west than Moscow, 140 miles west of here. Historically, it was the nucleus of the future czarism of Moscow. Now it's a little town of 10,000, basking in the sun.

Of the 60 churches and religious shrines that once operated here, only one is still functioning — a pathetic little structure that remains locked most of the time.

The Communist state has turned the others to temporal uses: museums, housing compounds, a bicycle warehouse, a school for retarded children. Some have simply fallen into decay.

Most of the old temples still have crosses atop them, piercing the sky as if unaware, 50 years after the Bolshevik Revolution, that a new, atheistic order has taken over.

Suzdal rises out of the rolling plain like some biblical city as you drive from Vladimir, another relic of old Russia, 20 miles away to the west. Vladimir too has its architect-tural treasures, notably Assumption Cathedral and Dmitri Cathedral, both dating from the 12th century and both captivating in their shimmering Byzantine symmetry.

Assumption Cathedral is one of two churches in use at Vladimir, a city of 180,000 much more in touch with the 20th century than sleepy, half-forgotten Suzdal. It is a military center and the home of some small manufacturing enterprises.

By contrast, Suzdal is just an anachronism, though an extraordinarily appealing one. Everything about the place is pastoral and picturesque, from the timeless green fields that crowd up to its gates, to the little brook that winds through its lowland meadows.

Life seems to move particularly slowly here. There seem to be more grandmothers passing the time of day on park benches and old men dozing in the sun.

Suzdal's existence goes back at least to the beginning of the 8th century when Norsemen settled here.

Rally Day Scheduled At Pilgrim Church

Annual Rally Day will be observed during Sunday School, 9:30 a. m. Sunday at Circleville Pilgrim Church, 144 Hayward Ave.

William Strehle, accompanied by his wife, will be in charge of special music.

The pastor, the Rev. Alonzo Hill, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Queen Slated To Meet Famous Beatle Outfit

LONDON (AP)—Buckingham Palace has announced officially that the Beatles will receive membership in the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, one of the most staid of British institutions.

Queen Elizabeth II will confer the honor Oct. 26. A palace spokesman said Wednesday it will be the queen's first meeting with the long-haired singers from Liverpool.

The Beatles' inclusion in the queen's birthday honors list last June 11 brought a flood of protests. A dozen British war heroes returned their decoration. The government stood firm.

Quiet Russian Town Once Renowned Religious Center

SUZDAL, U.S.S.R. (AP) — On a fine day you can see the sun dancing on the spires and domes of ancient Suzdal from miles distant.

The view across the pleasant countryside then is like a vision of the glory that this quiet town once knew, when it was a renowned religious center.

In the 12th to 14th centuries the Kingdom of Suzdalia embraced a sizeable area of old Russia stretching farther west than Moscow, 140 miles west of here. Historically, it was the nucleus of the future czardom of Moscow. Now it's a little town of 10,000, basking in the sun.

Of the 60 churches and religious shrines that once operated here, only one is still functioning — a pathetic little structure that remains locked most of the time.

The Communist state has turned the others to temporal uses: museums, housing compounds, a bicycle warehouse, a school for retarded children.
Some have simply fallen into decay.

Most of the old temples still have crosses atop them, piercing the sky as if unaware, 50 years after the Bolshevik Revolution, that a new, atheistic order has taken over.

Suzdal rises out of the rolling plain like some biblical city as you drive from Vladimir, another relic of old Russia, 20 miles away to the west.

Vladimir too has its architectural treasures, notably Assumption Cathedral and Dmitri Cathedral, both dating from the 12th century and both captivating in their shimmering Byzantine symmetry.

Assumption Cathedral is one of two churches in use at Vladimir, a city of 180,000 much more in touch with the 20th century than sleepy, half-forgotten
Suzdal. It is a military center and the home of some small manufacturing enterprises.

By contrast, Suzdal is just an anachronism, though an extraordinarily appealing one. Everything about the place is pastoral and picturesque, from the timeless green fields that crowd up to its gates, to the little brook that winds through its lowland meadows.

Life seems to move particularly slowly here. There seem to be more grandmothers passing the time of day on park benches and old men dozing in the sun.

Suzdal's existence goes back at least to the beginning of the 8th century when Norsemen settled here.

Queen Slated To Meet Famous Beatle Outfit

LONDON (AP)—Buckingham
Palace has announced officially that the Beatles will receive membership in the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, one of the most staid of British institutions.

Queen Elizabeth II will confer the honor Oct. 26. A palace spokesman said Wednesday it will be the queen's first meeting with the long-haired singers from Liverpool.

The Beatles' inclusion in the queen's birthday honors list last June 11 brought a flood of protests. A dozen British war hero returned their decoration. The government stood firm.

Joseph: Achieving Character

TROUBLES COME EVEN TO THOSE DOING GOD'S WILL, BUT GOD'S PRESENCE DELIVERS THEM FROM DEFEAT

Scripture—Genesis 30:24; 37:1-28; 39:50.

By R. H. RAMSEY

IT HAS BEEN SAID that history is nothing more than a series of biographies, and the best way to study history is to study the lives of those who dominate historical periods. In the three-month series of lessons to follow we will study Old Testament figures whose lives and messages have influenced the world through Judaism and Christianity.

Our opening lesson deals with Joseph, a marvelously resourceful young man who rose from a humble, nomadic life to a place beside the Egyptian Pharaoh. Joseph is by all odds the most brilliant Jew who ever lived—and this is saying considerable for the Jews are a bright and able people, but never in their history has any one person displayed—and utilized—more unusual talents than did Joseph.

It was through the influence of Joseph that the Hebrews went down into Egypt. Though their sojourn there resulted finally in slavery, the Hebrews were turned from an ignorant, nomadic tribe into a well-disciplined, trained, educated nation. Had they not spent these formative, influential years in Egypt they would never have been ready for their great world service.

As all Bible students know, the great patriarch Jacob—later known as Israel—had 12 sons, founders of the 12 tribes of Israel. Polygamy being an accepted custom in those days, six of his sons were born to Leah, four to two of his concubines, and two—Joseph and Benjamin—were born to his favorite wife, Rachel.

Ninety-nine years old at the time of Joseph's birth, Jacob loved Joseph as only a doting father could love a child born to him in his later years by a favorite wife. As a child, Joseph was singled out for honors which placed him above his half-brothers, most of whom were mature adults.

The child boasted of this superiority, of dreams of greatness, and was, to the immeasurable rage of his brothers, a "tattletale."

He was a fit candidate for homicide, and only the hand of God saved his life. They got their hands on the young boy when he brought them a message from their father and planned to kill him. But Reuben, the eldest brother, persuaded the others to throw Joseph into a pit instead, intending to rescue him later. But Midianite merchants were passing at the time, so they sold the boy into slavery. When the Midianites reached Egypt the sold him to a certain Potiphar, "an officer of Pharaoh's and captain of the guard."

In Potiphar's household Joseph encountered temptation, for Potiphar's wife was brazenly immoral and tried to seduce him. But Joseph, remembering his father's words, refused. He was thrown into prison, but through the influence of the Pharaoh's butler and chief baker, both of whom had dreamed which Joseph had interpreted correctly.

Later, Pharaoh himself had two dreams which his magicians were unable to interpret. In this hour of perplexity, the butler remembered Joseph and he was immediately brought before the king. Joseph interpreted Pharaoh's dreams to mean seven years of plenty followed by seven years of famine. He advised Pharaoh to store up great supplies of food during the "fat" years to assure sustenance when crops were small. Impressed by Joseph, Pharaoh gave him his ring and made him overseer of all Egypt. The dreams came true, and the young slave. Under these circumstances Joseph revealed his true character.

He was grateful to Potiphar for the trust he had reposed in him and in this hour of temptation related his life to God in purity and faithfulness, resisting the sin against God and Potiphar. But the thwarted woman decided upon revenge, snatched Joseph's coat off him as he fled and accused him of assault, showing the coat as evidence of her struggle. So Joseph the slave found himself in prison.

Even here he prospered. He won the favor of the jailer, who put him in charge of all the other prisoners, among them Pharaoh's butler and chief baker, both of whom had dreamed which Joseph had interpreted correctly.

Later, Pharaoh himself had two dreams which his magicians were unable to interpret. In this hour of perplexity, the butler remembered Joseph and he was immediately brought before the king. Joseph interpreted Pharaoh's dreams to mean seven years of plenty followed by seven years of famine. He advised Pharaoh to store up great supplies of food during the "fat" years to assure sustenance when crops were small. Impressed by Joseph, Pharaoh gave him his ring and made him overseer of all Egypt. The dreams came true, and the young slave. Under these circumstances Joseph revealed his true character.

He was grateful to Potiphar for the trust he had reposed in him and in this hour of temptation related his life to God in purity and faithfulness, resisting the sin against God and Potiphar. But the thwarted woman decided upon revenge, snatched Joseph's coat off him as he fled and accused him of assault, showing the coat as evidence of her struggle. So Joseph the slave found himself in prison.

TV Network Planning For Visit by Pope Paul

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks plan to devote most of their daytime and evening programming Monday to the papal visit.

One network, the American Broadcasting Co., might be in something of a bind because of its commitment to televise any playoff games in the National League pennant race. A tie between the Giants and Dodgers would force a playoff beginning Monday.

That West Coast game would normally begin at 3 p. m. New York time, a half hour before the Pope's scheduled address to the United Nations General Assembly.

ABC-TV President Thomas W. Moore said the network had urged the National League to start any Monday playoff game at 4 p. m. New York time. "In any event," he added, "we'll carry the Pope's address, and if the ball game has started, we'll cut it in progress."

The National Broadcasting Co. has the most prolonged television coverage of the Pope's visit planned—live from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. This wipes out all regular entertainment programming by NBC.

ABC has tentatively scheduled papal coverage from 9 a. m. through 5 p. m., and from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. when Pope Paul VI celebrates a Mass for peace at Yankee Stadium.

The Columbia Broadcasting System will devote these hours to the papal visit: 9 a. m. to 2 p. m.; 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and 8:30 p. m. to the conclusion of the stadium Mass. A spokesman said CBS will have regular programming outside those hours.

By pooling resources — more than 65 cameras including one in a helicopter — and personnel, coverage will start with the pontiff's arrival at Kennedy Airport, follow him to St. Patrick's Cathedral, to the United Nations, to the outdoor Mass at the Yankee Stadium.

head of the Roman Catholic Church to the United Nations to make a plea for peace is the highlight of the next seven days of viewing. It comes toward the end of almost a month during which the networks carefully avoided scheduling any special programs which would preempt regular shows. The purpose was to permit viewers to sample new shows and review the old ones—a three-week procedure—so that the audience-sampling services can make an early diagnosis of the health of each of the new season's programs.

There will be one special program, however, on Sunday, NBC's "America the Beautiful" a news department program concerned with blighted areas and the national beautification program. That comes in the 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. (EDT) spot which is reserved for public affairs shows on a biweekly basis.

CBS kicks off the special of the new season on Thursday night, pre-empting "Gilligan's Island" and "My Three Sons" for a musical variety hour starring Andy Griffith, Don Knotts and Jim Nabors (8-9).

TV Network Planning For Visit by Pope Paul

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks plan to devote most of their daytime and evening programming Monday to the papal visit.
One network, the American Broadcasting Co., might be in something of a bind because of its commitment to televise any playoff games in the National League pennant race. A tie between the Giants and Dodgers would force a playoff beginning Monday.
That West Coast game would normally begin at 3 p. m., New York time, a half hour before the Pope's scheduled address to the United Nations General Assembly.
ABC-TV President Thomas W. Moore said the network had urged the National League to start any Monday playoff game at 4 p. m. New York time. "In any event," he added, "we'll carry the Pope's address, and if the ball game has started, we'll cut it in progress."
The National Broadcasting Co. has the most prolonged television coverage of the Pope's visit planned—live from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. This wipes out all regular entertainment programming by NBC.
ABC has tentatively scheduled papal coverage from 9 a. m. through 5 p. m., and from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. when Pope Paul VI celebrates a Mass for peace at Yankee Stadium.
The Columbia Broadcasting System will devote these hours to the papal visit; 9 a. m. to 2 p. m.; 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and 8:30 p. m. to the conclusion of the stadium Mass. A spokesman said CBS will have regular programming outside those hours.
By pooling resources — more than 65 cameras including one in a helicopter — and personnel, coverage will start with the pontiff's arrival at Kennedy Airport, follow him to St. Patrick's Cathedral, to the United Nations, to the outdoor Mass at the Yankee Stadium.
The one-day journey of the head of the Roman Catholic Church to the United Nations to make a plea for peace is the highlight of the next seven days of viewing. It comes toward the end of almost a month during which the networks carefully avoided scheduling any special programs which would preempt regular shows. The purpose was to permit viewers to sample new shows and review the old ones—a three-week procedure—so that the audience-sampling services can make an early diagnosis of the health of each of the new season's programs.

There will be one special program, however, on Sunday, NBC's "America the Beautiful" a news department program concerned with blighted areas and the national beautification program. That comes in the 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. (EDT) spot which is reserved for public affairs shows on a biweekly basis.
CBS kicks off the special of the new season on Thursday night, preempting "Gilligan's Island" and "My Three Sons" for a musical variety hour starring Andy Griffith, Don Knotts and Jim Nabors (8:9).

Ohio Superintendents Back Education Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Passage of the proposed state sales tax increase was endorsed Thursday by the Ohio County Superintendents Association in a policy statement.
The association said the tax increase, from three to four cents to provide an estimated $116 million annually in additional state funds for education, is "essential to the maintenance of an adequate elementary and high school educational system in Ohio."

Joseph: Achieving Character

TROUBLES COME EVEN TO THOSE DOING GOD'S WILL, BUT GOD'S PRESENCE DELIVERS THEM FROM DEFEAT

Scripture—Genesis 30:24; 37:1-28; 39:50.

By R. H. RAMSEY
IT HAS BEEN SAID that history is nothing more than a series of biographies, and the best way to study history is to study the lives of those who dominated historical periods. In the three-month series of lessons to follow we will study Old Testament figures whose lives and messages have influenced the world through Judaism and Christianity.
Our opening lesson deals with Joseph, a marvelously resourceful young man who rose from a humble, nomadic life to a place beside the Egyptian Pharaoh. Joseph is by all odds the most brilliant Jew who ever lived—and this is saying considerable for the Jews are a bright and able people, but never in their history has any one person displayed—and utilized—more unusual talents than did Joseph.
It was through the influence of Joseph that the Hebrews went down into Egypt. Though their sojourn there resulted finally in slavery, the Hebrews were turned from an ignorant, nomadic tribe into a well-disciplined, trained, educated nation. Had they not spent these formative, influential years in Egypt they would never have been ready for their great world service.
As all Bible students know, the great patriarch Jacob—later known as Israel—had 12 sons, founders of the 12 tribes of Israel.

the young slave. Under these circumstances Joseph revealed his true character.
He was grateful to Potiphar for the trust he had reposed in him and in this hour of temptation related his life to God in purity and faithfulness, resisting the sin against God and Potiphar. But the thwarted woman decided upon revenge, snatched Joseph's coat off him as he fled and accused him of assault, showing the coat as evidence of her struggle. So Joseph the slave found himself in prison.
Even here he prospered. He won the favor of the jailer, who put him in charge of all the other prisoners, among them Pharaoh's butler and chief baker, both of whom had dreams which Joseph had interpreted correctly.
Later, Pharaoh himself had two dreams which his magicians were unable to interpret. In this hour of perplexity, the butler remembered Joseph and he was immediately brought before the king. Joseph interpreted Pharaoh's dreams to mean seven years of plenty followed by seven years of famine. He advised Pharaoh to store up great supplies of food during the "fat" years to assure sustenance when crops were small. Impressed by Joseph, Pharaoh gave him his ring and made him overseer of all Egypt.
The dreams came true, and rael. Polygamy being an accepted custom in those days, six of his sons were born to Leah, four to two of his concubines, and two—Joseph and Benjamin—were born to his favorite wife, Rachel.

Ninety-nine years old at the time of Joseph's birth, Jacob loved Joseph as only a doting father could love a child born to him in his later years by a favorite wife. As a child, Joseph was singled out for honors which placed him above his half-brothers, most of whom were mature adults.
The child boasted of this superiority, of dreams of greatness, and was, to the immeasurable rage of his brothers, a "tattletale."
He was a fit candidate for homicide, and only the hand of God saved his life. They got their hands on the young boaster when he brought them a message from their father and planned to kill him. But Reuben, the eldest brother, persuaded the others to throw Joseph into a pit instead, intending to rescue him later. But Midianite merchants were passing at the time, so they sold the boy into slavery. When the Midianites reached Egypt the sold him to a certain Potiphar, "an officer of Pharaoh's and captain of the guard."
In Potiphar's household Joseph encountered temptation, for Potiphar's wife was brazenly immoral and tried to seduce only Egypt had food during the "lean" years. Driven by famine in Canaan, Joseph's older brothers came to Egypt to buy grain. Joseph knew who they were and was filled with love for them.

They, however, did not recognize the exalted official as his brother. He sold them grain, but secretly put the purchase price back into their sacks, and told them not to return again without their youngest brother, Benjamin, who had replaced Joseph as the apple of Jacob's eye.
When a second trip to Egypt was necessary, the brothers brought Benjamin with them, against Jacob's wishes. Sensing a change within them, Joseph saw God's hand in the entire series of events in his life and revealed himself to them. His first concern was for his aged father, giving his brothers elaborate instructions for bringing him from Canaan to spend the rest of his days with all his sons in Egypt.
Though Joseph showed himself to be of strong character, we see God's providence working in his life. Little has been said about his religious faith, but religion was the central factor in his successful life. He knew how to put first things first; and in his life—as in the life of his father, and eventually of his nation—God was put first and kept there to the glory of the divinity.

You won't fully appreciate how well it's made unless it breaks down.

Lucky for you, the Volkswagen was designed by a bunch of dedicated pessimists. They spent a fantastic amount of time making it easy to fix.
For most engine adjustments, the mechanic simply lifts the rear hood and starts adjusting. All the vital parts are out in the open where he can get at them. So a carburetor overhaul, for instance, takes half as long (and costs half as much) on a VW as it does on a domestic car.
If the engine ever needs major surgery, the mechanic just loosens 4 bolts and a few connections, and pulls the whole works out where they can be worked on.
Even with complications, the entire operation has never taken more than 45 minutes. (It takes at least 2 or 3 times as long on most cars.)
A new front fender for a VW only costs $24.95.* Plus the cost of labor: 10 bolts off, 10 bolts on. Painting. Period.
So, if your VW ever breaks down, the reason you won't wait very long or pay very much to have it fixed is that it's so well made.
But chances are, it won't break down at all. For the very same reason.

'The Spirit Boosters' at CHS

By TAMALA WILKINS AND SUSAN THOMPSON

Who is the group of students that help cheer the Circleville High School's team on to victory? Who is responsible for selling cheers to the public at home games? What club has the insignia of a "Tiger on a Fleur de lis," worn on a black sweater? It's the Circleville High School Pep Club!

The Pep Club was organized to boost school spirit and encourage more students to go to the games. This year's co-chairmen are Gloria Schlegler, a junior, and Connie Ramey, a senior. Other club officers are vice president, Larry Downing; secretary, Patty Robinson; treasurer, Lois Monroe; project chairman, Judy Moore; parliamentarian, John Allison; sergeant-at-arms, John Kurtz.

Pep Club members meet every Wednesday immediately after school to discuss projects and to practice cheers with the cheerleaders.

Upcoming events for the CHS Pep Club are an aftergame dance, bake and candy sales, selling cheers at the home games, and other money-making projects.

Club members must make it a practice to be at each game if possible and to cheer their loudest to show that they are behind the team 100 per cent!

By BARBARA MACKENZIE

The 1966 Class of CHS, consisting of 140 students, has been very busy with such Senior activities as picking their colors, flower, and motto, and having their pictures taken and getting their orders.

On Sept. 20, the 140 seniors met and decided on forest green and white as their colors, the dogwood as their flower, and "Measure your mind's heights by the shadow it casts" as their motto.

Mr. Snouffer announced that individual counseling sessions were to be made for each senior by Mrs. Gillespie and Mr. Fisher. They will check the students' credits, proper names for diplomas and diploma areas.

On Sept. 20 and 21 seniors had their pictures taken and orders for pictures were processed last Wednesday.

Student Teachers Assist at CHS

By BARBARA MACKENZIE

On Sept. 7, CHS classes got underway with many teachers aided by student teachers from nearby colleges.

Lynn Reichelderfer of OSU, helped Mrs. Will in the Senior English department; Sally Hines, OSU, assisted Mr. Eberly with his music classes; Tim Kiprpatrick, OU, sat in on Mr. Long's American history classes and Mr. Langland's American government classes; and Mrs. Bogg's geography class; and Don Cook, OSU, helped with several of the boy's physical education classes under Mr. La Bounty's supervision.

New band officers have been chosen. They are president, Roger Grigg; vice president, Tom Evans; secretary, Marsha Brobst; treasurer, Donna Stephens.

Journalism At CHS and Its Purpose

By NANCY WALISA

Journalism at CHS has many purposes, but it's most important one is to keep the public as well as students informed about school news.

Journalism is not the type of course that can be forgotten as soon as one leaves the classroom. There is news to get, interviews to schedule, as well as features and editorials to write. This means much extra time is spent meeting the requirements of Journalism.

The news for your school paper cannot be written as a story may be written for your English class. News writing is a distinctive kind of writing, where the climax or main point is told in the first paragraph and details are filled in later in the story.

The 1965-66 Journalism class, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Boggs, is larger than it has been in the past few years. It has a total of 18 students who will work hard to keep you informed about school news.

Superintendent Jacobs Speaks

Another school year is underway in good fashion with students enrolled in the Circleville City Schools. It is again our hope that we remember 1965-66 as a banner school year and that each student will strive for excellence to the best of his or her ability.

Many new facilities and improvements were added during the summer months and ready for the opening of school and others are in progress and will be completed by the opening of next school year.

New elementary facilities include an eleven room addition at Mount St. together with a multipurpose room and kitchen. The old Franklin building has been razed and playground facilities will be developed on the site.

A miraculous accomplishment took place at High St. where the old building was razed and a new one put in its place from the time school ended last spring until it began this fall.

Four new rooms were added at Atwater to meet the increased enrollment in that area.

The High School gymnasium was completely painted for the first time since its construction, most of the outside window trim in the High School was painted as a part of the regular maintenance schedule. Additional fluorescent lighting for the High School was completed together with the painting of hallways and some classrooms. Many other routine summer maintenance activities have improved the schools of our district for more comfortable living and learning. We urge the student body to assist in keeping the schools in good repair.

The new High School is progressing on schedule together with the complete development of the site. We are sure that by next fall the student body and community will be very proud of the new addition.

We also welcome the 21 new teachers to our schools and community and hope that their year will be enjoyable and rewarding.

During the year we hope to keep you informed of our progress through the "Red and Black" page. We commend those students who prepare the page that the public may be informed of Circleville City School activities.

Guidance Gains New Counselor

By NANCY PECK

The new guidance counselor, Mrs. David Gillespie, hails from Charleston, W. Va. She did undergraduate work at Morris Harvey in Charleston. After part time studying for two years at Morris Harvey, she then attended Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va. She now comes to Circleville High School with 14 years of teaching experience.

Mrs. Gillespie, her son and husband are sports enthusiasts. They all enjoy going to local and out-of-town football games and also play golf at the country club. They all attend the Presbyterian Church.

The guidance counselor and her husband, David B., a transfer of Owens - Illinois Paper Co., reside at 432 Holiday Lane in Garden City. Their son, Glenn David, is in the fifth grade at Nicholas Drive Elementary School.

When she was asked for a statement on her philosophy of teaching she said, "I think that as teachers we are placed here to help students gain necessary information that will help them in their endeavors to become useful citizens. Our job depends upon their goal, but we have to know what they want and need." When she was asked her opinion of the Circleville student body as a whole, she said, "My impression is good. The students are nice and friendly. They act like ladies and gentlemen and I believe there are no major discipline problems."

First Assembly Held

Theme of the movie viewed by the student body in their first assembly last Friday was "Motivation For Living." Bob Richards, a well known athlete and Olympic decathlon winner, presented the movie under the sponsorship of General Mills.

His talks in the past years have encouraged many people to make the extra effort to get the most out of life.

Many students will undoubtedly do better work and try a "little harder" in all areas because of the assembly.

Get a Good Thing Going

By GREG GRIFFITH

School begins and with it arrives new club activities, sports participations, grade standings, student programs and, inevitably, homework.

It is generally the consensus of opinion among students that homework is unfair, bothersome, time-consuming, tiresome and unavoidably necessary. It is necessary because most of the activities mentioned require a certain point average for participation.

At the opening of the school year a typical student sets up a satisfactory homework schedule. The system works fine for about four weeks. Then, because of faults in the student's habits, not in the system, time allotted for homework begins decreasing. By the end of the year, a typical student's homework crams its way into homerooms, between classes, during classes, lunch periods, and on the buses.

Only the student can remedy this problem. He must realize that a day in school is only half the course and that homework is the other half. To keep this in mind and to stick with a good home study system will certainly improve grades and personal standings. This, as well as any good undertaking, depends solely upon you, the student.

Students Eye Homecoming

By SUSAN THOMPSON

Students of CHS are awaiting this year's fantastic Homecoming, and the mystery of who will reign as Queen of the glittering dance, following the Washington C. H. game on Oct. 8. For the first time at Circleville High there will be a freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior attendant as well as a senior Queen.

Voting took place on Monday with each homeroom choosing two candidates, and on Wednesday the preliminaries were held. Today the last step was taken in choosing the Queen and her court. The mystery Queen is to be announced after the WCH game, but the attendants were announced to the student body today.

This year's homecoming dance will be co-sponsored by Junior and Senior GAA, Key Club, and Hi-Y. The co-chairmen of the dance are Miss Eileen Marty and Mrs. Margaret Evans.

Circleville High School cordially invites teachers, parents, and alumnae, as well as students to attend this annual event.

Think Small

NEW YORK (AP) — While nearly everyone else is concerned with "thinking big," some chemists are concerned with "thinking small."

Through development of a new product called B-Nine, they are able to retard the growth of flowering plants. Although this might seem strange, it actually serves professional plant and flower growers to produce larger flowers on clay-potted plants that do not spend all their energy in stem and leaf growth.

Senior Class Has 140 Members

By BARBARA MACKENZIE

The 1966 Class of CHS, consisting of 140 students, has been very busy with such Senior activities as picking their colors, flower, and motto, and having their pictures taken and getting their orders.

On Sept. 20, the 140 seniors met and decided on forest green and white as their colors, the dogwood as their flower, and "Measure your mind's heights by the shadow it casts" as their motto.

Mr. Snouffer announced that individual counseling sessions were to be made for each senior by Mrs. Gillespie and Mr. Fisher. They will check the students' credits, proper names for diplomas and diploma areas.

On Sept. 20 and 21 seniors had their pictures taken and orders for pictures were processed last Wednesday.

Student Teachers Assist at CHS

By BARBARA MACKENZIE

On Sept. 7, CHS classes got underway with many teachers aided by student teachers from nearby colleges.

Lynn Reichelderfer of OSU, helped Mrs. Will in the Senior English department; Sally Hines, OSU, assisted Mr. Eberly with his music classes; Tim Kirkpatrick, OU, sat in on Mr. Long's American history classes and Mr. Langland's American government classes, and Mrs. Bogg's geography class; and Don Cook, OSU, helped with several of the boy's physical education classes under Mr. La Bounty's supervision.

New band officers have been chosen. They are president, Roger Grigg; vice president, Tom Evans; secretary, Marsha Brobst; treasurer, Donna Stephens.

Journalism At CHS and Its Purpose

By NANCY WALISA

Journalism at CHS has many purposes, but it's most important one is to keep the public as well as students informed about school news.

Journalism is not the type of course that can be forgotten as soon as one leaves the classroom. There is news to get, interviews to schedule, as well as features and editorials to write. This means much extra time is spent meeting the requirements of Journalism.

The news for your school paper cannot be written as a story may be written for your English class. News writing is a distinctive kind of writing, where the climax or main point is told in the first paragraph and details are filled in later in the story.

The 1965-66 Journalism class, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Boggs, is larger than it has been in the past few years. It has a total of 18 students who will work hard to keep you informed about school news.

Superintendent Jacobs Speaks

Another school year is underway in good fashion with students enrolled in the Circleville City Schools. It is again our hope that we remember 1965-66 as a banner school year and that each student will strive for excellence to the best of his or her ability.

Many new facilities and improvements were added during the summer months and ready for the opening of school and others are in progress and will be completed by the opening of next school year.

New elementary facilities include an eleven room addition at Mound St. together with a multipurpose room and kitchen. The old Franklin building has been razed and playground facilities will be developed on the site.

A miraculous accomplishment took place at High St. where the old building was razed and a new one put in its place from the time school ended last spring until it began this fall.

Four new rooms were added at Atwater to meet the increased enrollment in that area.

The High School gymnasium was completely painted for the first time since its construction, most of the outside window trim in the High School was painted as a part of the regular maintenance schedule. Additional fluorescent lighting for the High School was completed together with the painting of hallways and some classrooms. Many other routine summer maintenance activities have improved the schools of our district for more comfortable living and learning. We urge the student body to assist in keeping the schools in good repair.

The new High School is progressing on schedule together with the complete development of the site. We are sure that by next fall the student body and community will be very proud of the new addition.

We also welcome the 21 new teachers to our schools and community and hope that their year will be enjoyable and rewarding.

During the year we hope to keep you informed of our progress through the "Red and Black" page. We commend those students who prepare the page that the public may be informed of Circleville City School activities.

Annual Staff Has Early Start

By JILL ROBERTSON

The 1965-66 Circle staff has been quite busy already this year. During August and September the annual staff campaigned for advertisements.

Annual sales campaign started Tuesday, Sept. 21, and will last until Thanksgiving.

Guidance Gains New Counselor

By NANCY PECK

The new guidance counselor, Mrs. David Gillespie, hails from Charleston, W. Va. She did undergraduate work at Morris Harvey in Charleston. After part time studying for two years at Marshall University.

MRS. DAVID GILLESPIE

She is in Huntington, W. Va. She now comes to Circleville High School with 14 years of teaching experience.

Mrs. Gillespie, her son and husband are sports enthusiasts. They all enjoy going to local and out-of-town football games and also play golf at the country club. They all attend the Presbyterian Church.

The guidance counselor and her husband, David B., a transfer of Owens - Illinois Paper Co., reside at 432 Holiday Lane in Garden City. Their son, Glenn David, is in the fifth grade at Nicholas Drive Elementary School.

When she was asked for a statement on her philosophy of teaching she said, "I think that as teachers we are placed here to help students gain necessary information that will help them in their endeavors to become useful citizens. Our job depends upon their goal, but we have to know what they want and need." When she was asked her opinion of the Circleville student body as a whole, she said, "My impression is good. The students are nice and friendly. They act like ladies and gentlemen and I believe there are no major discipline problems."

Circleville School Menu

Monday: Hot Pork on Bun, Shelly Beans, Apple Rings, Cookie, Milk.

Tuesday: Chicken and Dumplings, Celery and Carrots, Cherries, Whole Wheat Bread, Butter, Milk.

Wednesday: Hamburger, Gravy, Whipped Potatoes, Perfection Salad, Roll, Butter, Milk.

Thursday: Navy Beans and Ham, William Tell Slaw, Cornbread, Butter, Milk.

Friday: Fish on Bun, Tartar Sauce, Tomatoes, Pears, Cookie, Milk.

First Assembly Held

Theme of the movie viewed by the student body in their first assembly last Friday was "Motivation For Living." Bob Richards, a well known athlete and Olympic decathlon winner, presented the movie under the sponsorship of General Mills.

His talks in the past years have encouraged many people to make the extra effort to get the most out of life.

Many students will undoubtedly do better work and try a "little harder" in all areas because of the assembly.

Get a Good Thing Going

By GREG GRIFFITH

School begins and with it arrives new club activities, sports participations, grade standings, student programs and, inevitably, homework.

It is generally the consensus of opinion among students that homework is unfair, bothersome, time-consuming, tiresome and unavoidably necessary. It is necessary because most of the activities mentioned require a certain point average for participation.

At the opening of the school year a typical student sets up a satisfactory homework schedule. The system works fine for about four weeks. Then, because of faults in the student's habits, not in the system, time allotted for homework begins decreasing. By the end of the year, a typical student's homework crams its way into homerooms, between classes, during classes, lunch periods, and on the buses.

Only the student can remedy this problem. He must realize that a day in school is only half the course and that homework is the other half. To keep this in mind and to stick with a good home study system will certainly improve grades and personal standings. This, as well as any good undertaking, depends solely upon you, the student.

Texas To Top College Grid This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS College football's current Man of the House, Bob Griese, leads Purdue against Southern Methodist and top-ranked Texas plays Indiana as the Lone Star State takes the spotlight Saturday night.

Griese was a sensation last week in the triumph over Notre Dame that carried the Boilermakers into the No. 2 national ranking. Texas took over the top spot from the Irish after swamping Texas Tech.

Both the Longhorns and the Boilermakers are solid favorites against the Hoosiers and the Mustangs.

In another Southwestern feature, also a night game, Arkansas goes after its 15th straight victory, against Texas Christian at Little Rock. The Razorback are rated No. 4 nationally.

Nebraska, Michigan and Michigan State are host teams in Midwestern highlights.

The Cornhuskers open defense of their Big Eight title against Iowa State. Michigan State plays Illinois in what is a key Big Ten match for this stage of the season. And Michigan entertains Georgia in an intercollegiate pairing of ranked powers.

Nebraska is third in The Associated Press ratings. Michigan seventh, Michigan State ninth and Georgia 10th.

Notre Dame comes off the Purdue loss against another Big Ten club, Northwestern, at South Bend. Navy plays at Oklahoma and Iowa is at Wisconsin for a Big Ten game.

Louisiana State and Kentucky, two contenders for the title in the bruising Southeastern Conference, visit league rivals. LSU, rated No. 5 nationally, is at Florida and Kentucky, No. 6, is at Auburn.

Alabama, still a tough challenger for the SEC crown despite an opening day upset by Georgia, meets Mississippi at Birmingham. Tulane is at home to Miami of Florida. Mississippi State entertains Tampa and Vanderbilt is at Wake Forest for nonconference games.

Pitt tackles West Virginia in their annual skirmish and Syracuse, bombed by Miami in one of last week's big surprises, is at Maryland.

Southern California, propelled by Mike Garrett and rated the best on the West Coast, has its first Pacific Eight game of the season, against Oregon State at home.

Arizona and Wyoming, two unbeaten Western Athletic Conference teams, lock horns at Laramie, while a third strong WAC member, Brigham Young, faces Oregon State at Corvallis, Ore.

Boston College will try to enhance its rising prestige in the East, invading West Point to take on a so-so Army team. Princeton is at Columbia and Brown at Penn in the Ivy League, and UCLA plays at Penn State.

Tribe Box Office Proves Winner

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians may be only one rung above their sixth-place 1964 finish when they end their season Sunday night, but as far as the box office goes this has been the best season in five years.

As of today, 908,190 persons have pushed through the Municipal Stadium turnstiles to see the 1965 Indians. The last time season attendance went over 900,000 was in 1960, when the total was 950,985. Crowds dwindled fairly steadily after that, and last year, when there was serious talk of moving the club, the total was 653,293.

OSU, OU, Miami, Dayton Still Seeking First Wins

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Key games mark the Ohio collegiate football schedule this weekend.

Ohio State, Ohio University, Miami, Akron and Dayton, still seeking their first victory, go against stiff opposition.

Unbeaten Toledo, Wittenberg and Xavier will be out to preserve their perfect records.

Ohio State's intercollegiate tiff at Washington, three important Mid-American Conference contests and the Akron-Wittenberg clash highlight the 22-game program.

The Buckeyes, a surprise 14-3 loser to North Carolina last week, will be trying to regain some lost prestige in their conflict with the Huskies. The nationally televised game is rated a tossup.

Miami (0-2), which has never lost its first three games of the season, faces unbeaten Western Michigan (2-0) at Kalamazoo. The proud Redskins, who own more MAC titles (six) than any other school, haven't had a losing football campaign since 1942.

Kent State (1-1) visits Ohio University (0-2) in a skirmish that could determine the league's best threat to champion Bowling Green.

The Falcons (1-1), demolished at West Texas State Saturday, 34-0, hope to rebound against winless but stubborn Dayton. Toledo (2-0), which hasn't opened a season with three straight triumphs in 25 years, bids to do just that against Marshall Saturday night on the West Virginian's field.

The Thundering Herd also is unbeaten in two starts and boasts the loop' flashiest half-back, Mickey Jackson, who has scored seven touchdowns.

Wittenberg, shooting for an unprecedented fifth straight Ohio Conference crown, plays host to traditionally tough Akron, still reeling from a 41-0 setback to San Diego.

Xavier, sporting a 2-0 mark, meets the rugged Quantico Marines in a Saturday night fray. The Musketeers boast two decisions over Mid-Am opponents.

Meet the Tigers

LYNN HEATH

JERRY MYERS

Lynn Heath (11) and Jerry Myers (71), both sophomores, are two of the reasons the Circleville High School coaching staff is pleased with the young Tigers. Heath played on the line as a freshman, but was converted to quarterback at the beginning of the year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Heath, 118 Wilson Ave., he weighs 150 pounds and is 5-10. Myers, a wingback and middle guard, is the son of Mrs. Mary Myers, 375 Weldon Ave. He is 5-6 and tips the scales at 160 pounds.

Nicklaus Holds Favorite Nod in Golf Test

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, still was considered the one to beat for the individual title even though he was two strokes down at the start of the second round play in the Canada Cup golf matches today.

Donald Swaelens of Belgium and Chen Ching-po of Nationalist China, tied at 69s, three-under-par, were the pace-setters in this international 72-hole tourney that ends Sunday.

There was a six-way tie at 70 between George Knudson of Canada, Kel Nagle of Australia, Gary Player of South Africa, Miguel Sala of Colombia, Ramon Sota of Spain and Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina. Then came Nicklaus with a 34-37-71.

"I'm well satisfied with that round," Nicklaus said after he completed play over the 7,096-yard Club de Camp course. He had only one practice round.

"I know the course better now," the U.S. Masters champion said.

Nicklaus' partner in the Canada Cup over a course well watered after six months of drought and now made soft by rain is Tony Lema, Oakland, Calif., former British Open champion.

Lema struggled around in 39-37-76 but said: "I reckon I got some of the bad blood out of me. Today's another day."

U.S. Curtis Cupper Faces Wily Scot

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Judy Bell, 29-year-old bespectacled Curtis Cup golf star from Colorado Springs, Colo., faced Scottish champion Mrs. Belle Robertson today in the next stage of her bid for the British women's title.

The two were scheduled to clash in the quarter-finals over the St. Andrews old course — and the predictions were that the weather would be as rough as ever. After three days of heavy rain, Thursday was drier but players had to contend with a swirling wind.

Two French girls, Brigitte Varangot and Claudine Cros, are also challenging Britain's golf queens for the title. Both were paired against Curtis Cup stars in the quarter-finals today — Miss Varangot against Bridget Jackson and Miss Cros against Elizabeth Chadwick.

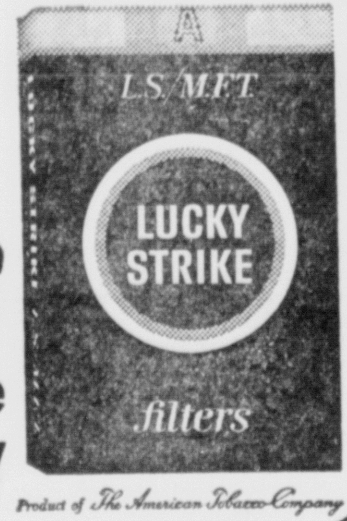

Vince Dooley, football coach at the University of Georgia, is an avid student of history. He has his masters degree from Auburn in history and plans to study the subject while coaching at Georgia.

Yes, Virginia, South-Central is still the same company

Only the name has been changed . . . nothing else.

You see, Virginia, the old name — South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Incorporated was rather cumbersome. That means it was long, difficult to remember in its entirety, and it took up a lot of room when it was written on a check or an envelope.

Secondly, a shortened name seemed to be indicated simply because of the fast-moving age in which we live. And the name our members approved at our last annual meeting on August 19th, was not only shorter, it was more concisely descriptive of our business.

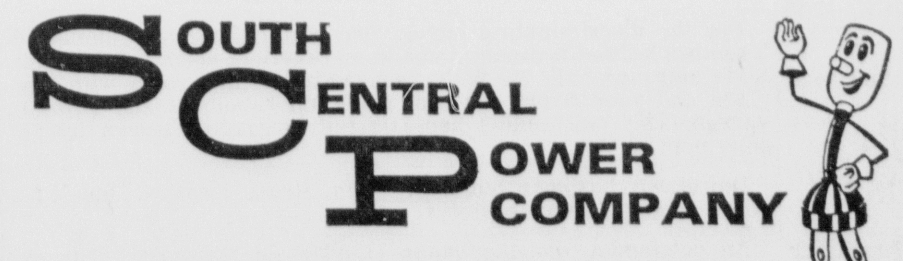

Our new name is the SOUTH CENTRAL POWER COMPANY.

See how easy it is to remember, Virginia? See how it describes our function — that of supplying electric power to more than 21,000 member-consumers in an 11-county area?

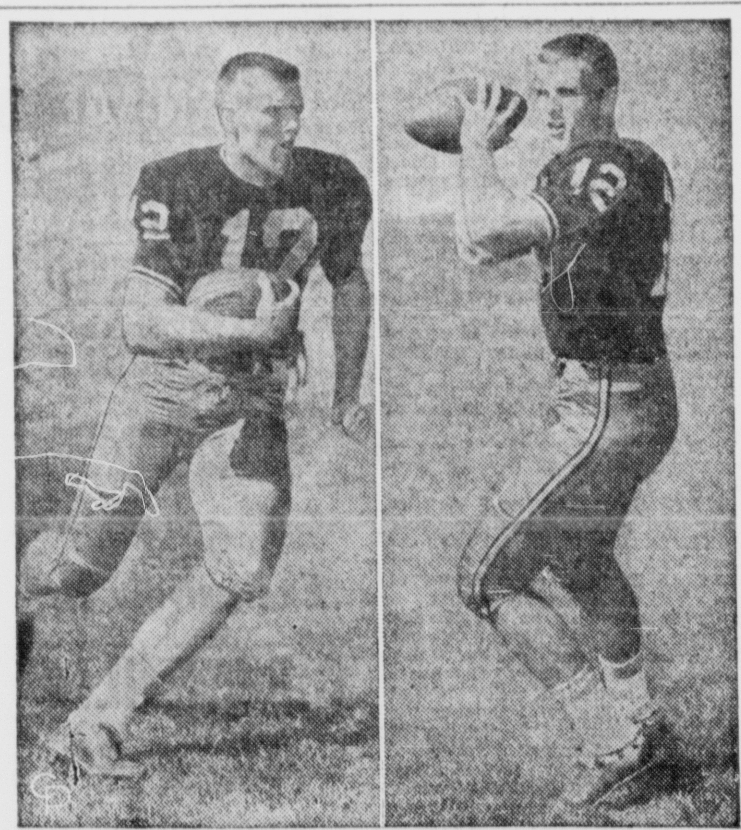

But, as we said at the beginning — only the name has been changed. We're still the same friendly power company at heart and in makeup.

We're still owned by people like you and your mother and father, our member-consumers. We're still going to supply you with electric power to light, heat, and cool your homes, help with farm chores, operate small businesses, churches and schools — just as we have before. And we're going to keep doing it at the lowest possible cost to your parents and all of our other members.

So you see, Virginia, we're really the same people operating the same company. It will just be a lot easier to identify us from October 1st on — that's when our new name becomes official.

PURDUE'S AERIAL ACE—Completing 19 passes in 22 attempts, Bob Griese, junior quarterback of the Purdue Boilermakers, led the Big Ten choice to a win over Notre Dame and is on his way to what could be All-American rating. Griese, from Evansville, was Purdue's outstanding soph last year.

Texas To Top College Grid This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS College football's current Man of the House, Bob Griese, leads Purdue against Southern Methodist and top-ranked Texas plays Indiana as the Lone Star State takes the spotlight Saturday night.

Griese was a sensation last week in the triumph over Notre Dame that carried the Boilermakers into the No. 2 national ranking. Texas took over the top spot from the Irish after swamping Texas Tech.

Both the Longhorns and the Boilermakers are solid favorites against the Hoosiers and the Mustangs.

In another Southwestern feature, also a night game, Arkansas goes after its 15th straight victory, against Texas Christian at Little Rock. The Razorback are rated No. 4 nationally.

Nebraska, Michigan and Michigan State are host teams in Midwestern highlights.

The Cornhuskers open defense of their Big Eight title against Iowa State. Michigan State plays Illinois in what is a key Big Ten match for this stage of the season. And Michigan entertains Georgia in an intersectional pairing of ranked powers.

Nebraska is third in The Associated Press ratings, Michigan seventh, Michigan State ninth and Georgia 10th.

Notre Dame comes off the Purdue loss against another Big Ten club, Northwestern, at South Bend. Navy plays at Oklahoma and Iowa is at Wisconsin for a Big Ten game.

Louisiana State and Kentucky, two contenders for the title in the bruising Southeastern Conference, visit league rivals. LSU, rated No. 5 nationally, is at Florida and Kentucky, No. 6, is at Auburn.

Alabama, still a tough challenger for the SEC crown despite an opening day upset by Georgia, meets Mississippi at Birmingham. Tulane is at home to Miami of Florida. Mississippi State entertains Tampa and Vanderbilt is at Wake Forest for nonconference games.

Pitt tackles West Virginia in their annual skirmish and Syracuse, bombed by Miami in one of last week's big surprises, is at Maryland.

Southern California, propelled by Mike Garrett and rated the best on the West Coast, has its first Pacific Eight game of the season, against Oregon State at home.

Arizona and Wyoming, two unbeaten Western Athletic Conference teams, lock horns at Laramie, while a third strong WAC member, Brigham Young, faces Oregon State at Corvallis, Ore.

Boston College will try to enhance its rising prestige in the East, invading West Point to take on a so-so Army team. Princeton is at Columbia and Brown at Penn in the Ivy League, and UCLA plays at Penn State.

Tribe Box Office Proves Winner

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians may be only one rung above their sixth-place 1964 finish when they end their season Sunday night, but as far as the box office goes this has been the best season in five years.

As of today, 908,190 persons have pushed through the Municipal Stadium turnstiles to see the 1965 Indians. The last time season attendance went over 900,000 was in 1960, when the total was 950,985. Crowds dwindled fairly steadily after that, and last year, when there was serious talk of moving the club, the total was 653,293.

OSU, OU, Miami, Dayton Still Seeking First Wins

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Key games mark the Ohio collegiate football schedule this weekend. Ohio State, Ohio University, Miami, Akron and Dayton, still seeking their first victory, go against stiff opposition.

Unbeaten Toledo, Wittenberg and Xavier will be out to preserve their perfect records.

Ohio State's intersectional tiff at Washington, three important Mid-American Conference contests and the Akron-Wittenberg clash highlight the 22-game program.

The Buckeyes, a surprise 14-3 loser to North Carolina last week, will be trying to regain some lost prestige in their conflict with the Huskies. The nationally televised game is rated a tossup.

Miami (0-2), which has never lost its first three games of the season, faces unbeaten Western Michigan (2-0) at Kalamazoo. The proud Redskins, who own more MAC titles (six) than any other school, haven't had a losing football campaign since 1942.

Kent State (1-1) visits Ohio University (0-2) in a skirmish that could determine the league's best threat to champion Bowling Green.

The Falcons (1-1), demolished at West Texas State Saturday,

LYNN HEATH

JERRY MYERS

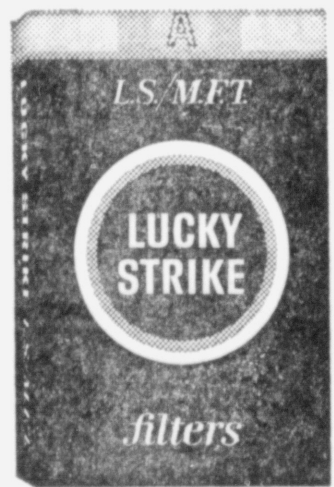

Lynn Heath (11) and Jerry Myers (71), both sophomores, are two of the reasons the Circleville High School coaching staff is pleased with the young Tigers. Heath played on the line as a freshman, but was converted to quarterback at the beginning of the year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Heath, 118 Wilson Ave., he weighs 150 pounds and is 5-10. Myers, a wingback and middle guard, is the son of Mrs. Mary Myers, 375 Weldon Ave. He is 5-6 and tips the scales at 160 pounds.

Nicklaus Holds Favorite Nod in Golf Test

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, still was considered the one to beat for the individual title even though he was two strokes down at the start of the second round play in the Canada Cup golf matches today.

Donald Swaelens of Belgium and Chen Ching-po of Nationalist China, tied at 69s, three-under-par, were the pace-setters in this international 72-hole tourney that ends Sunday.

There was a six-way tie at 70 between George Knudson of Canada, Kel Nagle of Australia, Gary Player of South Africa, Miguel Sala of Colombia, Ramon Sota of Spain and Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina. Then came Nicklaus with a 34-37-71.

"I'm well satisfied with that round," Nicklaus said after he completed play over the 7,096-yard Club de Camp course. He had only one practice round.

"I know the course better now," the U.S. Masters champion said.

Nicklaus' partner in the Canada Cup over a course well watered after six months of drought and now made soft by rain is Tony Lema, Oakland, Calif., former British Open champion.

Lema struggled around in 39-37-76 but said: "I reckon I got some of the bad blood out of me. Today's another day."

AP Guesspert
Picks Browns
For Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Charley Johnson keep up the pace against that rugged Dallas defense and can Cleveland bounce back from the Cardinal disaster? Will Baltimore have enough left to handle unbeaten San Francisco after those two tough games with Minnesota and Green Bay? How much will the loss of Elbert Dubenion hurt Buffalo?

Those are the questions that make it tough for a pro football picker this week. Thanks to the Cards and Packers, the old batting average picked up a bit last week. So far, it's 9-5 in the NFL and 4-3-1 in the AFL for a total of 13-8-1.

Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated. There is a Monday night game at St. Louis.

NFL
Green Bay 24, Chicago 14—Packers hurting with Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor, Bart Starr and Boyd Dowler banged up in Colt game. Return of Larry Morris should help Bears. But this is Packer opener in Green Bay after one "home" game in Milwaukee and Bears are old, old enemies. Packers won pre-season game 31-14.

Cleveland 20, Philadelphia 14—Browns may still be shell shocked after Card game. Giants were able to run on Eagles so Jim Brown should get 100 yards again. Leaky Cleveland defense must find way to handle Tim Brown and Pete Retzlaff. Lou Groza's foot could decide it. Frank Ryan doubtful with bruised arch.

New York 14, Pittsburgh 9—Giants' running game best in years against Eagles and Earl Morrall on target for first time. Baltimore 28, San Francisco 21—This could be real trouble for the Colts after those rough games with the Vikings and Packers. AFL San Diego 21, Houston 14—The Chargers still without Keith Lincoln and offensive chugging along with only three TDs in last two games. San Diego defense will put the heat on George Blanda and Don Trull.

New York 21, Denver 14—Joe Namath showed enough at Buffalo to get Jets on winning side for first time if he can make use of Matt Snell to foil Broncos' blitz. Cookie Gilchrist could break it wide open for Broncos.

Kansas City 28, Boston 10—Chiefs score impressive victory in home opener against groggy Patriots, who can't run enough to give Babe Parilli a chance. Interceptions killing Boston.

Buffalo 28, Oakland 21—A real chance for an upset here with Bills favored at home. Dodgers Get Stronger
In Dash for Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Getting stronger as the season grows shorter, the Los Angeles Dodgers' one-two punch of Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale has dropped the San Francisco Giants perilously close to the canvas for a 10-count.

In fact, the way the pair has been pitching, the Dodgers may not even need them to deliver the knockout blow.

That climactic punch conceivably could come tonight following Drysdale's three-hit, 4-0 victory over Milwaukee Thursday night.

The triumph, their 13th straight, kept the National League-leading Dodgers two games in front of the Giants, who defeated Cincinnati 5-3, and put the leaders in this position:

If the Dodgers, with Claude Osteen pitching, beat the Braves again tonight and the Reds and 21-game winner Sammy Ellis down the Giants, Los Angeles will have its third pennant in the last seven years.

Drysdale's masterpiece came just 24 hours after Koufax shut out Cincinnati on two hits marking the second time in the last six days that the prodigious pair has pitched consecutive shutouts. Against St. Louis last Saturday and Sunday, Koufax pitched a five-hit, 2-0 victory and Drysdale hurled a five-hits, 1-0 triumph.

"This is the best stretch of pitching a team of mine has ever enjoyed," said Manager Walter Alton, who has watched his staff allow only two runs in the last 60 innings. "I've also never had a team that finished a season as strong as this one."

Drysdale, who threw an average of only 10 pitches an inning against the Braves, said he never felt stronger. He also suggested that trainers Wayne Anderson and Bill Buhler should receive much of the credit for the pitching streak.

"They're the best in baseball, and they've kept us in great shape," he explained.

The shape Koufax and Drysdale have been in has been phenomenal. Together they've recorded 48 of the Dodgers' 95 victories — Drysdale is 23-12 and Koufax 25-8.

The left-handed Koufax has a 2.06 earned run average and eight shutouts while the right-handed Drysdale has a 2.78

ERA and seven shutouts. In the only other NL game St. Louis annihilated Houston 19-8 while Minnesota edged Baltimore 7-6 in the only American League contest.

Drysdale retired the first 14 Braves, then gave up a two-out single to Felipe Alou in the fifth inning. He rapped two singles himself, driving in the second run and raising his average to .302, best on the team.

The Giants won only their third game in the last nine when pinch hitter Orlando Cepeda, batting .161, clouted a 3-2 pitch from Joe Nuxhall for a two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning.

Frank Robinson had put Cincinnati ahead 3-2 with a homer in the eighth, but the Giants tied it in the bottom of the inning on a double by Jim Hart and Jesus Alou's single. Giants' starter Juan Marichal was forced out of the game in the seventh with a dislocated left thumb suffered in a baseline collision.

Zilo Versalles powered the American League champion Twins with the first grand-slam homer of his career. Baltimore made it close with four unearned runs in the seventh inning after Jerry Kindall bobbled Jerry Adair's leadoff grounder.

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks are preparing to give the same all-out coverage to the 14-hour visit of Pope Paul VI to the United States and New York next Monday that they have accorded the astronauts, space journeys, political conventions and the last rites for John F. Kennedy and Winston Churchill.

Coverage of the papal journey will start with satellite transmissions of pictures of his take-off from Italy early Monday morning and pick up with him landing at New York's Kennedy airport on Long Island. From 9 a.m. EDT until 11 p.m. when he is scheduled to take off again all regular programs will be skipped. The day is to be virtually without any commercials. And the head of the Roman Catholic Church will be on camera just about every minute that he is not in private conference.

All three networks will have well-known Catholic churchmen serving in special capacities on the staffs Monday. But CBS, in something of an ecclesiastical coup, will have one of the nation's best-known priests as its special narrator for the day. He is the most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York and national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

Bishop Sheen, who has been in Rome attending the Ecumenical Council meetings, arrived in New York late Wednesday and by Thursday night had already compiled what he called a "fact book" of 120 pages for his use, as he said, from "sunrise to sunset."

The churchman, famed as a lecturer, teacher and writer, expects that his greatest challenge will come with his explanation of the Mass on Monday night in the Yankee Stadium which will be watched on television by millions of non-Catholics as well as Catholics.

"I am going to explain it in terms of the engagement that comes before marriage," he said. "I recall that I once sat for an hour and a half in Japan watching a play and was bored to death because I didn't understand one word of what was going on. I've always disliked the way the Mass was presented on television anyway. The movements were described — which you could see anyway — but the meaning was ignored. I hope to explain it in the simplest possible terms."

Bishop Sheen added that he was glad the three television networks were pooling their basic coverage of the events of the day. But he too confessed that he wished they could work out some arrangement so that the coverage could be shared rather than duplicated — or rather triplicated — "perhaps with one network taking over for a certain number of hours and then another picking up in its turn."

AP Guesspert Picks Browns For Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Charley Johnson keep up the pace against that rugged Dallas defense and can Cleveland bounce back from the Cardinal disaster? Will Baltimore have enough left to handle unbeaten San Francisco after those two tough games with Minnesota and Green Bay? How much will the loss of Elbert Dubenion hurt Buffalo?

Those are the questions that make it tough for a pro football picker this week. Thanks to the Cards and Packers, the old batting average picked up a bit last week. So far, it's 9-5 in the NFL and 4-3-1 in the AFL for a total of 13-8-1.

Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated. There is a Monday night game at St. Louis.

NFL
Green Bay 24, Chicago 14—Packers hurting with Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor, Bart Starr and Boyd Dowler banged up in Colt game. Return of Larry Morris should help Bears. But this is Packer opener in Green Bay after one "home" game in Milwaukee and Bears are old, old enemies. Packers won pre-season game 31-14.

Cleveland 20, Philadelphia 14—Browns may still be shell shocked after Card game. Giants were able to run on Eagles so Jim Brown should get 100 yards again. Leaky Cleveland defense must find way to handle Tim Brown and Pete Retzlaff. Lou Groza's foot could decide it. Frank Ryan doubtful with bruised arch.

Minnesota 21, Los Angeles 17—Vikings healthy and hungry after losing two. Rams' Rosey Grier and Lamar Lundy sub par but still keyed high after exciting win over Bears with Terry Baker coming into town. Vikings' Fran Tarkenton due to scramble and ramble.

New York 14, Pittsburgh 9—Giants' running game best in years against Eagles and Earl Morrall on target for first time.

Baltimore 28, San Francisco 21—This could be real trouble for the Colts after those rough games with the Vikings and Packers. The 49ers are red hot after winning their first two on John Brodie's passing. Colts will give Brodie the big rush. If John Unitas' sore right shoulder doesn't come around, watch out for an upset.

Detroit 17, Washington 14—Lions are big surprise of league, and Redskins haven't jelled.

St. Louis 24, Dallas 14 (Monday night)—Charley Johnson has nine TD passes in two games, but the Cowboys' defense will make him hurry.

AFL

San Diego 21, Houston 14—The Chargers still without Keith Lincoln and offensive chugging along with only three TDs in last two games. San Diego defense will put the heat on George Blanda and Don Trull.

Ohio GOP Women Told Party Needs Union Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Predicting a return of the Republicans to power, former U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland of California says the party wants and needs the support of labor. "An effective two-party system is essential to give all Americans, including labor, a choice of alternatives," he told the 25th annual meeting of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs Thursday night. "As a political party, we want and need the support of labor, organized and unorganized," he said at a banquet attended by some 800 federation members and state and party officials. Knowland, a former member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, urged support for the nation's stand in Southeast Asia. "If we do not stand in Viet Nam, we will certainly be confronted again in Thailand or the Philippines," Knowland warned. "Somewhere, some nation or group of nations has to make clear that we do not intend to permit the free world to be nibbled away bit by bit and piece by piece. "The world should have learned at the time of Munich that the road to appeasement is never the road to peace. It is only surrender on the installment plan."

Cigarette Consumption Seen Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated today Americans will smoke nearly 5 per cent more cigarettes this year than last. Consumption is expected to average about 216 packages per smoker. This would more than offset last year's 2.5 per cent decline following a government report that said cigarette smoking causes lung cancer. The department's projected figures put domestic consumption at 536 billion cigarettes compared with 511 billion last year and the previous record high of 524 billion in 1963. "The gain in cigarette consumption in 1965 largely reflects the significant increase in the population in the smoking-age brackets and probably the resumption of cigarette smoking by some who stopped, and by those who turned for a time to cigars and pipes," a report said. The department predicted a further increase in use of cigarettes in 1966.

Knowland asserted that under the present administration the power of the Presidency "has been greatly augmented," the power of the states dwindles and the Supreme Court "appears to have taken unto itself the power to promulgate new social, political and economic policies. Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, GOP National committeewoman and president of the federation, presided at the banquet. Other speakers included Gov. James A. Rhodes, State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews and John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor and U.S. senator.

Signup Reaches Peak
OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Miami University said today enrollment for the fall term on the main campus has reached a record high of 9,981, an eight per cent increase over last fall. There are 3,053 freshmen.

Pope's Visit To Bring New Color to Big Stadium

NEW YORK (AP) — In deep center field at Yankee Stadium, 450 feet from home plate, are three weathered granite monuments, erected in memory of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Miller Huggins. The three were New York Yankee baseball immortals. To them, the stadium presented a familiar panorama of color and motion, resounding again and again to the tremendous roar of their fans. Not Ruth, nor Gehrig, nor Huggins, in their lifetimes, could have envisioned the historic panoply that will envelope Yankee Stadium next Monday night. At 8:30 p. m., a slight, shy, devout man will ascend an altar erected behind second base. One of the greatest throngs in Stadium history, an anticipated 90,000, will sit, or stand, in silence as Pope Paul VI begins to say Mass. The stillness then will be relieved by the Latin prayers of the pontiff, and the responses from the worshippers. It will not be the first Roman Catholic Mass celebrated in Yankee Stadium, although the Pope's presence will make the occasion unique. In 1957, before 50,000 worshippers, Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated his 25th anniversary as a bishop with a Pontifical Mass of thanksgiving on the 3¼-acre playing field of the three-tiered stadium. Yankee Stadium is known as "The House that Ruth Built"—a tribute to the Yankee outfielder who was the greatest of all baseball's home run hitters. The $2.3-million stadium—it would cost many times that to replace it—was 11 months in the building and opened April 8, 1923. A crowd of 74,000 watched the Babe hit a home run—the stadium's first base hit—to lead the Yankees to a 4-1 victory over pitcher Howard Ehmke and the Boston Red Sox. It was the same two teams, in a May 30, 1938, doubleheader, which drew the record New York baseball crowd of 81,841. Since then, the number of box seats has been reduced for comfort and the stadium now seats 87,000, with a capacity, counting standees, of 75,000. It is the largest privately owned ballpark in the major leagues. The only larger one is the 73,811-seat Cleveland Municipal Stadium. Twenty-nine world boxing

Ohio GOP Women Told Party Needs Union Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Predicting a return of the Republicans to power, former U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland of California says the party wants and needs the support of labor.

"An effective two-party system is essential to give all Americans, including labor, a choice of alternatives," he told the 25th annual meeting of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs Thursday night.

"As a political party, we want and need the support of labor, organized and unorganized," he said at a banquet attended by some 800 federation members and state and party officials.

Knowland, a former member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, urged support for the nation's stand in Southeast Asia.

"If we do not stand in Vietnam, we will certainly be confronted again in Thailand or the Philippines," Knowland warned.

"Somewhere, some nation or group of nations has to make clear that we do not intend to permit the free world to be nibbled away bit by bit and piece by piece."

"The world should have learned at the time of Munich that the road to appeasement is never the road to peace. It is only surrender on the installment plan."

Knowland asserted that under the present administration the power of the Presidency "has been greatly augmented," the power of the states has dwindled and the Supreme Court "appears to have taken unto itself the power to promulgate new social, political and economic policies."

Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, GOP National committeewoman and president of the federation, presided at the banquet. Other speakers included Gov. James A. Rhodes, State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews and John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor and U. S. senator.

Cigarette Consumption Seen Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated today Americans will smoke nearly 5 per cent more cigarettes this year than last. Consumption is expected to average about 216 packages per smoker.

This would more than offset last year's 2.5 per cent decline following a government report that said cigarette smoking causes lung cancer.

The department's projected figures put domestic consumption at 536 billion cigarettes compared with 511 billion last year and the previous record high of 524 billion in 1963.

"The gain in cigarette consumption in 1965 largely reflects the significant increase in the population in the smoking-age brackets and probably the resumption of cigarette smoking by some who stopped, and by those who turned for a time to cigars and pipes," a report said.

The department predicted a further increase in use of cigarettes in 1966.

Pope's Visit To Bring New Color to Big Stadium

NEW YORK (AP) — In deep center field at Yankee Stadium, 450 feet from home plate, are three weathered granite monuments, erected in memory of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Miller Huggins.

The three were New York Yankee baseball immortals. To them, the stadium presented a familiar panorama of color and motion, resounding again and again to the tremendous roar of their fans.

Not Ruth, nor Gehrig, nor Huggins, in their lifetimes, could have envisioned the historic panoply that will envelope Yankee Stadium next Monday night.

At 8:30 p. m., a slight, shy, devout man will ascend an altar erected behind second base. One of the greatest throngs in Stadium history, an anticipated 90,000, will sit, or stand, in silence as Pope Paul VI begins to say Mass. The stillness then will be relieved by the Latin prayers of the pontiff, and the responses from the worshipers.

It will not be the first Roman Catholic Mass celebrated in Yankee Stadium, although the Pope's presence will make the occasion unique.

In 1957, before 50,000 worshipers, Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated his 25th anniversary as a bishop with a Pontifical Mass of thanksgiving on the 3 1/4-acre playing field of the three-tiered stadium.

Yankee Stadium is known as "The House that Ruth Built"—a tribute to the Yankee outfielder who was the greatest of all baseball's home run hitters.

The $23-million stadium—it would cost many times that to replace it—was 11 months in the building and opened April 8, 1923. A crowd of 74,000 watched the Babe hit a home run—the stadium's first base hit—to lead the Yankees to a 4-1 victory over pitcher Howard Ehmke and the Boston Red Sox.

It was the same two teams, in a May 30, 1938, doubleheader, which drew the record New York baseball crowd of 81,841. Since then, the number of box seats has been reduced for comfort and the stadium now seats 67,000, with a capacity, counting standees, of 75,000.

It is the largest privately owned ballpark in the major leagues. The only larger one is the 73,811-seat Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

championships have been decided in the stadium, and in 1930 there were 79,222 persons on hand to watch Max Schmeling defeat Jack Sharkey in a heavyweight title fight.

On the less frivolous side, Jehovah's Witnesses have held huge conventions at the stadium. Evangelist Billy Graham's followers also have gathered there.

For the Pope's visit, gaudy advertising signs inside the stadium will be shrouded, and huge pictures of the pontiff will be in place. Atop the stadium, the insignia of the various American League baseball teams will be replaced by religious pennants.

It promises to be a scene unrivaled in the 42-year history of Yankee Stadium.
